remonstrated and testified as to finding money, a check made out in Jean's name, and the bill-fold there, of arresting him and then going to his home and arresting him as he had been with Blanchard during the evening. Blanchard denied robbing Jean and stated that there had been drinking in the party, but Judge Knight failed to be influenced by his plea. In summing up the case, the judge said that the two defendants had been before him the very same week on a charge very similar and that he had only fined them, but this time he imposed a direct sentence of six months to the house of correction for both of them.

The previous case was one in which the two defendants were charged with robbing one Cordero under like circumstances. Officer George Barton of the Lawrence Manufacturing company, testified as to finding the two defendants drunk near the mill and as he was ordering them to go on, Cordero came along and asked to take them home. On the way home, Blanchard and Barton ran into Cordero and robbed him. Judge Knight was about to sentence Cordero to two years, but testimony was brought in to show that Cordero was under the influence of liquor. "He only used them," Blanchard is a plasterer by trade living in Springfield, but just past present working on a job in Lowell, and making about $60 a week. Barton is a carpenter and lives on Moody street.

DEMONSTRATING THE ELECTRIC RANGE

At the wonderful exhibition now going on at the Memorial Auditorium, Mrs. Elision is endeavoring to show the ladies of Lowell how to cook with the latest equipped Electric Range. One of the special comforts of electric cooking is the coziness of the kitchen during the time the range is operating. Because a glow lamp instead of a heat caused by combustion, the pans never become blackened, therefore you save the corresponding necessity of scrubbing utensils and the time thus spent daily. Also the range stays bright and clean always. The elimination of matches and the fact that there is no flame means matchless cooking and protection from the fire hazard. With an electric range cooking becomes an exact science. No guess work and no failure, the heat being under perfect control. It can be regulated so that there is an even temperature at all times for the many different kinds of food to be cooked.

Mrs. Elision is demonstrating at the Atherton Furniture Company's booth, the present street company, and she will be glad to answer all questions and relative to cooking by electricity, and here, by the way, is one of her recipes for sugar cookies:

Heat the oven to 450° F. and bake 8 to 10 minutes.

1 cup butter, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tables. milk, 1/4 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, salt, nutmeg.

Cream the butter and sugar, add eggs, then 1/2 teaspoon baking powder and mix well. Flour the board and roll the butter out thin, cutting the cookies with a well floured cutter. Place on a buttered tin and after baking with melted butter and sugar, bake in a quick oven.

Postmaster General New Admits Leaders at Odds—Democrats Also Divided

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Admitting a division in the ranks of the republican party, but at the same time, declaring "the estate of our democratic adversaries is not better," Postmaster General Harry S. New in an address here last night asserted that both parties are suffering from "lack of cohesion."

The postmaster general pleaded with his auditors for party solidarity against "blacks," individuals with no theories and fragmentary faction. Accomplishments of the Harding administration he declared, may bring about the unexpected in the form of Whenever I become in a run-down, weak or nervous condition, a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens and builds up my physical health as no other medicine ever has,"—Mrs. Dora Williams, 222 Lansing Ave.

As the principal speaker at the centennial celebration of the birth of John Sherman, Mansfield's most famous citizen, Mr. New urged "more faith and less criticism—faith in this country of ours and faith in the party to which we belong."

While the postmaster general did not cite causes for the division within his party, he set forth the league of nations and wet and dry legislation as points on which various leaders in the democratic party are at odds.

He did remark, however, that "their differences and divisions are no less sharply defined than those with which we are affiliated."

TROUPE FLEUR-DE-LYS PRESENTS PLAY

Members of Troupe Fleur-de-Lys, an organization composed of local talent, who on various occasions have delighted the French-speaking element of this city with the presentation of good clean productions, scored another big success last evening when they presented "Un Duel En Amour," a three-act farceful comedy-drama before a large and appreciative audience. The production was given in the Colonial Theatre, Middlesex street, and the manner in which the program was given reflected great credit upon Mrs. Eva Forsythe, producer and leading lady, and Thomas Roche, theatrical director.

"Un Duel En Amour," better known under the title of "Bataille des Dames," is a favorite play in colleges and high schools and although it has been played in various schools of the country, it was given its first presentation in this city last night. The play unfolds a very interesting story and it contains just enough humor to keep the audience in good mood.

Between the acts there were very enjoyable numbers given by Mrs. Nora Regan Length, accompanied by Miss Valentine Souza; violin and piano duet by Misses Alice and Blanche Levy; vocal selections by Joseph Beilanger; exhibition dances by the Finnegan sisters, as well as orchestra selections.

Those who took part in the cast of "Un Duel En Amour," were Mrs. Eva Forsythe, Miss Irene Tessier, Jean Tessier, Albert Lachance, Thomas Roche, Joseph Belanger and Edmund Aubut. They all rendered their parts in a very commendable manner, but special mention should be given to Mrs. Forsythe, who has shown exceptional ability as the leading lady. Mr. Roche was also complimented for his excellent work.

THE WRONG NAME

In yesterday's police court news, it was erroneously stated that Rose Newell was charged with illegal keeping. This was a mistake for the defendant in the case, which was continued until May 14 on a plea of not guilty. Is not Rose, but Mildred A. Newell.

Ichiruman, who arrived here with his wife and niece at midnight, announced that he expected hourly to hear that the Suchow train bandits had released all of their captives.

The most important factor in obtaining the release of the prisoners, Mr. Schurman said, was the withdrawal of the government troops which had pursued the brigands to their strongholds. This was now being carried out, he said, to such an extent that negotiations with the bandits could proceed.

"The Chinese authorities, in my opinion, are doing everything possible," said Mr. Schurman. "The employment of foreign military forces has not been considered."

Mr. Schurman said that Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was released by the bandits, still was at Tsinanfu and had fully recovered from her experience.

American to Visit Bandits

PEKING, May 11.—(By the Associated Press) At present hopes of obtaining freedom for the captives held by the Suchow train bandits seem to lie in the efforts of Roy Anderson, an American of long experience in Chinese political affairs and a personal confidant of several important military leaders.

He has announced he will visit the brigands in their stronghold at Paotuku and attempt to negotiate with them. He was one of the first on the scene after the holdup of the Shanghai-Peking express and since has been counseling and co-operating with the American, British and French consul at Lincheng.

According to a report by a Chinese escaped prisoner, the leader of the brigands is a youth hardly past 20. The leader is said to be willing to treat for the release of his prisoners provided the troops withdraw 15 miles.

Anderson plans to take along food supplies for the foreign captives who are declared to be subsisting on short rations. The ministry of communication has instructed representatives at Lincheng to render every assistance to the consuls and foreign relief parties.

It is reported that the hardships of the captives have been increased because of jealousy among the leaders of the brigands. Five of the sub-leaders are said to be bargaining for control of the kidnapping arrangements, thus entailing frequent shifting of the prisoners from one camp to another.

The government troops, while not pressing the bandits, still are encircling their stronghold.

Doctor on Way to Captives

TSINANFU, May 11.—(By the Associated Press) Dr. Helmberger of the Shantung Christian university has left for Lincheng, guaranteed safe conduct to the mountain strongholds of the Chinese bandits where he will be conducted to the foreign captives

Movie Fans Hear Favorite Stars
From WHN, Screen-Radio Magazine

THE SCREEN-RADIO MAGAZINE IN PROGRESS. RUTH ROBERTSON, MOVIE STAR, BROADCASTING A TALK FROM WHN. BELOW, CHARLES REED JONES, THE "INTERVIEWER."

BY NEA SERVICE RIDGEWOOD, N. J., May 11.—Radio fans who are also movie lovers, are getting the treat of their lives from broadcasting station WHN, here.

They are hearing their favorite film stars by radio.

In other words, a motion picture magazine is being broadcasted to the movie-radio fans, three times a week. Every Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening, at 7:30, the fans tune in on WHN and listen to on what they usually read in movie magazines—some what later.

The idea was conceived by Charles Reed Jones, formerly editor of a movie magazine, now in charge of this feature of the WHN program.

The new "Screen-Radio Magazine" like any other movie magazine is devoted to news and personal gossip of the players, reviews of photoplays and radio interviews, says Mr. Jones, who interviews with the stars. These unique in the annals of interviewing here for the first time, a motion picture fan can hear an interview as it actually happens, rather than as it is related by the interviewer when he gets back to his typewriter.

Frequently at WHN the interviewer has never met his subject before the go-together at the broadcasting studio, and the resulting embarrassment adds to the amusement of the radio audience.

The Screen-Radio Magazine has a question and answer department, too. Eddie and Lou, who are located near WHN, telephone their questions to the broadcasting studio while Mr. Jones is broadcasting, and they hear the answers by radio within a few minutes.

Instant followers of the screen will mail their questions, which are answered in the first Screen-Radio Magazine period after they are received.

RADIO FOR THE ELECT IN GERMANY

You have to be a banker or successful business man to take up radio in Germany. For, under present conditions, the radio fan is taxed half a million marks annually for broadcasting service.

Because of this high cost, mostly banks and industrial organizations are subscribing to a regular news broadcast service in Germany. A private company in Berlin is sending international news from the Koenigs-winterhausen radio station, which it receives through the Nauen plant from the large stations in the United States, Sweden, Switzerland and other countries.

There are diamond items from New York, London, Paris and Berlin. The broadcasting lasts for two and one-half hours, every morning and evening.

Subscribers rent their receiving sets from the broadcasting company. For this they pay 200,000 marks annually, and for the service the annual fee is 300,000 marks.

Mrs. Becker Tells How Her Husband Took "Dreco" and Obtained Such Surprising Relief.

Everywhere one goes these days they encounter people who are not feeling their best, not downright sick but ailing to some extent. That tired out, drowsy, achy feeling, the stomach out of order, bowels constipated, liver sluggish or kidneys congested. These are the people that Dreco and the most good for us, as is proven by numerous testimonies from persons who have given it a fair trial. For instance:

"My husband is highly pleased since taking two bottles of Dreco. For it has really benefited him more than the expensive," said Mrs. Lydia Becker, residing at Brewerton, near Johnstown, New York.

"No doubt the trouble came from stomach disorder which brought on constipation, belching sour gas after meals was most annoying and spells of heartburn often followed. I am sure a glassful of Dreco added to his discomfort for dizzy spells and head loss of ten attacks of him. He would get up of mornings feeling them out with no energy to do a thing, and his nerves were on edge all the time.

"I do not feel he had to say that Dreco has given him much relief to all the troubles for he took it to each greater than before taking it. For sure any one can take Dreco and it will be of relief from it."

Dreco goes right to the vital spot, toning up the organs that are weak and aids them to operate as Nature intends. That is why Dreco gives such prompt relief to the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder and eliminates the poisons from the blood.

DRECO is being introduced to the people of Lowell by Green's drug store. Call on them, and let them tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. They will honestly tell you whether or not they think DRECO will benefit you. Also Dreco is being sold in Boston by the Nusham Pharmacy Co. 175 Main Street.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD HOLDS HEARINGS

The public service board held hearings on a number of street and sidewalk petitions in the councilmanic chamber at city hall last evening. At the close of the hearing a brief business meeting was held during which it was brought out through a communication sent to the board by the city council that there is available for street, sewer and sidewalk work only $49,070 if the city is to keep within the debt limit. The board then voted to request the council to hold the remaining amount ready for street and sidewalk orders, which are to come in the future.

The most important hearing last night was that on the petition of residents of Butman road for the widening and macadamizing of the thoroughfare from Andover street to the end. Those who spoke in favor of the petition were George H. Taylor, representing the C. I. Hood estate; Charles S. Proctor, Frank J. Kinball, E. R. Knowles, Lillian R. Powers, Charles F. Hobson and A. A. Goward. Major Edward J. Noyes, Frank Burke, J. H. Declar and Francis Cunningham objected to the granting of the petition on the ground that the widening of the street would eliminate the fine trees along the sidewalk in front of their homes. They favored putting the street in a "passable" condition, however. The matter was taken under advisement.

The petition of Lillian M. Bishop for the acceptance of Hawthorn street was laid on the table, as was that of Daniel J. Crowley for the laying of cedar sidewalks in Bunker Hill street. The petition for repairs in Beacon street was referred to the superintendent of streets and that for the repair of Blossom street was placed on file.

The petitions granted were as follows:

Frank Ricard for cement sidewalk at 414-424 Fletcher street.
Arthur J. Roux for sidewalks at 64 Mammoth road and 23 Third avenue.
Louis Marchand for sidewalks and edgestones at Fourth avenue and Moody street.
Annie D. St. Hilaire, sidewalks at ML Hone and Riverside street.
Alexandre Gervais for 100 feet of cinders and edgestones at Riverview street near Lakeview avenue.
Susie K. Mawn, cement sidewalks at 26 Methion street and Merrill avenue.
Sarah T. McCarthy, edgestones and cinders at 18 Georgia street.
R. A. Maxfield for edgestones and cinders at 152 Dartmouth street.

WEAK AND RUN-DOWN

After Serious Operation WINCARNIS Restores Her Strength

"Not long ago my daughter was obliged to undergo a serious operation which left her in a dreadfully weak and run-down condition. She had no appetite and was as white as a sheet. She really looked as if she had no blood left in her. She was also very nervous.

The doctor had given her some medicine to build her up but she did not seem able to get her strength back. In fact, her improvement was so slow that it had me mighty worried.

I heard about Wincarnis and got her a bottle. It worked wonders. She began to improve right from the start. It was simply wonderful how quickly she regained her strength and put on weight, and how the color came back to her cheeks."

PROGRAM AT THE BARTLETT SCHOOL

The members of the eighth and ninth grades of the Bartlett school presented a program of unusual merit before the members of the school's Parent-Teacher association last night in the school hall. Mrs. Rodriguez Mignault presided.

The program was varied and included songs by the girls' glee club, under the direction of Miss Amy Tucker; selections by the school orchestra under Miss Catherine Kason, a dance in costume by the ninth grade pupils under Miss Katherine Fisicoff; and a playlet representing a lesson in a French school. This last number was given in French and demonstrated what has been accomplished in the teaching of French in the school.

AN INVASION
Army of "Apantiles" to Rout Orchard Pests

By HARRY B. JONES,
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, May 11.—A Japanese invasion of America, engineered by an employee of the United States government itself, will be undertaken within the next two months.

Though the invading forces will arrive at Pacific ports, the center of their operations will be in New England.

The little yellow invaders are flies and their job is to make life miserable for the gypsy moth which is playing havoc with New England orchards.

Entomologically, they are a species of "apantiles." In everyday language they are parasitic insects which like to use the caterpillar of the gypsy moth as a hunting place for their eggs.

The man who is rounding up the apantile army, Dr. John Summers, Uncle Sam's expert on moths, landed in Japan last week and called on Japanese fly-catchers to bring in recruits.

As fast as these are obtained in regimental units, they will be embarked for Boston and the battlefield.

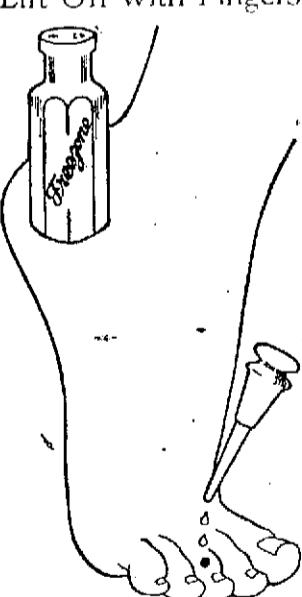

Summers has covered a large section of the globe rounding up parasites to prey on other parasites. His job is to pick the insects that are harmless to plant and animal life, but are deadly enemies of other and harmful insects, and sic the good bugs on the bad ones.

REPARATIONS QUESTIONS COBURN CO. A LEADER

F. L. Hoffman Urges a Satisfactory and Equitable Settlement

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Urging a satisfactory and equitable settlement of the reparations question, F. L. Hoffman of Babson Institute today told the annual meeting of the American Academy of political and social science, that "French imperialism is as much a menace to mankind as German imperialism."

"The world's sympathies are with France," he said, "but the world's judgment is clearly against the course she has taken in seeking by force of arms what would have been yielded to her by proper political and economic pressure."

"France has not gained, but lost, by the Ruff occupation. Each day only increases the sinister complications. If the objective of the occupation is reparation in full, that objective is being destroyed."

U.S. America is to aid in solving the question, Dr. Hoffman said, it must be upon a thorough understanding of the facts from an American viewpoint.

Discussing the financial situation, Garret Garrett of Hackensack, N. J., said that Germany, by method of inflation carried purposefully to a logical end, had demonstrated that with the "greatest economic impunity" a nation may wipe out income-bearing wealth and survive.

ganization of its kind in the country, and it is safe to say that no other city can lay claim to a class or of similar magnitude in the field of art, prints, glass, oils and other objects.

This concern is the Coburn Co., Market street, that for so years has faithfully served the house owner and the house builder with quality goods at prices that satisfy the purchaser and tend to make the regular patrons. To attempt to estimate the things the C. B. Co. sells, sells would require pages of newspaper and hours of time as it is, in a five-story building given over entirely to the housing and selling of merchandise, but the visitor to the exposition will call at the Coburn booth and get an excellent idea of many interesting and useful things that this company can do to help to make a home beautiful, serviceable and safe.

The booth is in charge of Walter Flynn, advertising manager of the company, assisted by a host of the clerical forces who will be on duty throughout the week. Mr. Flynn has been one of the forces most connected with the exposition, as he is the advertising director, in full charge of all the public work incidental to the exhibition.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD'S WORRIES AWAIT HIS RETURN

Oscar and Mrs. Underwood Are in Madeira Where They Ride in Baskets Swung Between Two Oxen—As a Horseman President Harding is a Good Golfer—Snappy Items From Washington

Once Senator Oscar Underwood of Birmingham, Ala., is putting in the easiest vacation of anyone mentioned as a 1924 presidential possibility.

Oscar and Mrs. Underwood are en joying a two-weeks' ride at Funchal, Madeira, some 400 miles off the west coast of Morocco. No nobility no questions about the League of Nations, not even the news about the G. O. P. realism over the world court, preoccupies the all-pervading peace of his retreat.

Life in Funchal, the Underwoods have written friends here, is peaceful and primitive. When they wish to go riding they are tucked into baskets swung between two oxen—a sort of wicker hammock affair. This equipment covers a mile in something less than

However, as proof that he still loves horseback riding, President Harding's name heads the list of box-holders for the annual Capital Horse Show, May 15-19. Here the captions speak of official and social Washington will be put through their paces and one may enjoy riding without the discomfort of having to pay for it.

The latest presidential hobby disappearing above the Washington horizon is that of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, former secretary of state.

Glass, from Virginia, is, of course, a democrat. It is said in official that he would carry the document of former President Wilson.

at the Hotel Céleste. A young man seated a few tables away arose, after he had finished his dinner and leisurely partaken of coffee, calmly walked over to the Russian table and opened fire without warning. Vorovsky was the first victim, and the assassin then turned the weapon on Ahrens, who was struck by three bullets, twice in the thigh and once in the shoulder.

Ahrens, nevertheless, managed to draw a revolver on his assailant, but a waiter rushed forward and knocked up his arm. Meanwhile the assassin shot Didukhowsky.

The assassin was seized as he attempted to escape from the hotel. His name is Maurice Alexander Conradt, and according to the police, who suspected him to a severe grilling, belongs to the Canton of Grisons.

BIG COAL COMPANY SUSPENDS SHIPMENTS IN MASSACHUSETTS BECAUSE OF NEW STATE LAW

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, May 11.—That at least one of the big coal-producing companies has suspended shipments into Massachusetts, because of the law passed this year permitting state officials to seize "unburnable" coal, is indicated in a letter which has been received by the special committee created by the present legislature to investigate the whole coal situation, and of which Senator John W. Haigis of Greenfield is chairman.

That passage of the law, which was recommended by Governor Cox, would have this effect, was stated to the legislature while it was under consideration. But the pressure for its passage was so great that the legislature turned a deaf ear.

Now the state, beginning the summer with far less coal on hand than for the past two years, is faced with the refusal of one of the big companies to send any coal into the state unless the retail dealers whom it serves will guarantee it against loss. This, of course, they will hesitate to do.

The special committee, which is to give its first public hearing on the matter next Wednesday at 10 o'clock, issues the following statement today:

"Beginning its coal year, April 1st with only 183,000 tons of anthracite coal on hand in the commonwealth, as compared with 727,000 in 1922 and 608,000 in 1921, the smallest amount in recent years, Massachusetts is facing a grave situation in which the combined effort of every agency within the state must be brought into force, to an adequate supply of fuel is to be secured for next winter, and in order to avoid a repetition of the extreme suffering of the past few months.

"The advent of winter weather should cause no cessation in the concerted attempt within this commonwealth to speed up receipts of anthracite during the early months of the coal year, especially in view of the uncertainty of the situation, with a further curtailment of production possible when the present wage contract between the operators and miners on August 1st.

"While the express purpose of the joint special coal investigating committee is to attempt to devise some permanent plan to provide an adequate fuel supply for Massachusetts, the committee believes it would be diligent in its duty if it did not endeavor to anticipate the situation and warn the public as to the probable emergency within the next few months, and to this end it will spare no effort.

"At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, May 16th, in Room 370, state house, the committee will hold its first public hearing, which the committee believes will be an extremely important.

tant hearing. Letters from the public and the retail coal trade are being received by the committee daily, expressing dissatisfaction with present conditions and offering various suggestions for improvements in the present fuel distribution system.

"At this hearing the details concerning the operation of the new law regulating the quality of coal in this state will be heard. Massachusetts was the first state to enact such a law, as a result of objections during the past winter of many thousands of tons of rock and coke which were loaded upon the state as coal. Thousands of dollars were paid for this free-proof coal, which resulted in total loss to the consumers. Under the new law more than 200 tons of unburnable coal have been seized, and several dealers have been prosecuted for their part in selling the substance.

"On the other hand, retail dealers are now complaining that their coal shipments are being held up as a result of this law, and this question will be thoroughly looked into by the committee at its hearing. A copy of a letter received by some of the retailers from one coal producing company had been reproduced, in order that the public may know both sides of the mines when loaded into cars for rail situation. The letter reads as follows:

"We have had brought to our attention the new law of the state of Massachusetts approved by the governor, March 23, 1923, providing for the seizure and disposition of coal which is deemed unfit for ordinary use, by certain minor officials designated thereon. This law calls for the condemning of coal by these officials without in any way specifying the standard which will pass muster, leaving it entirely to the discretion of these officials to dispose of this coal as they see fit and settlements to be made to the owner of the coal less all expenses and other charges they feel fit to impose upon the coal.

"We are quite sure that the quality of Lattimer coal and other coal handled by this company are such as to cause no uneasiness as to the combustion of our coal; however, we cannot hold ourselves open to the mercy of any petty official who may have a private grievance or other cause, who has such latitude to condemn coal. We have, therefore, suspended all shipments into the state of Massachusetts until we receive a letter from your selves and other concerns to whom we are shipping, concerning the ownership of all coal shipped for you either by rail or by boat, at the mines when loaded into cars for rail shipment or at tide water ports when loaded into boats.

"We shall, therefore, appreciate your advising us to this effect as early as possible."

VESPER COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE AT TYNG'S ISLAND IN TYNGSBORO DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, believed to have originated in a short circuit of wires in a light fixture, totally destroyed the main clubhouse of the Vesper Country Club at Tyng's Island, Tyngsboro, yesterday afternoon, causing the passing of one of the best known club buildings of its nature in New England and one familiar to hundreds of members of the golf fraternity in Lowell and other cities.

Fortunately club attaches, aided by members who happened to be nearby, managed to save some of the first floor furnishings and valuable silver, linen and other necessities.

Great as the loss would be if the fire occurred at any time during the year, it is particularly staggering how to the club just at this time, with the cold and busy summer season just beginning, added to the tents and cottages in the pine grove, and along the river front, the main building provided all the club's overnight conveniences and last summer, from June to October, practically every room was occupied. Many families have spent summer vacations at the island in recent years and all this meant helpful revenue, aside from the pleasure it gave those who were privileged to enjoy the comforts and homelike atmosphere of the rambling building.

The fire may have a tendency to restrict the club's plans in connection with the state amateur golf championship to be played over the Vesper course the last of June, but it is not to be expected that the loss of the house will mean a cancellation of the tournament.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 2:30 o'clock, and although every thing possible was done to save the structure, the fire-fighting conveniences were inadequate and incapable to compete with the wind-fanned flames. A short circuit in the partitions on the third floor directly above an open fireplace is believed to have been responsible for the fire. With the aid of a high wind, which sent down the river at this point, the flames spread with amazing rapidity and the building was soon a charred to destruction. As no fire-fighting facilities are located in the club grounds, hurried telegraphic communications to North Chelmsford and Lowell brought a crew of volunteers from the former place and Engins 2 and 6 from the city and it was after 7 o'clock in the evening when the firemen left the scene.

Due to the increasing wind, it was thought that other club buildings on the island would succumb to Tyng's embers, but firemen took added precautionary measures by sprinkling nearby structures at short intervals.

avert any further possible loss. The boathouse survived, however, as did the other buildings, including the golf house, recently erected on the island. Small, but dangerous grass fires broke out on the Princeton boulevard side of the river, and these extra hazards kept all hands on the go for nearly four hours. The latter blazes were extinguished almost as soon as discovered, but might have proved disastrous had they been allowed to burn without interruption.

The discovery of the fire in the clubhouse was made by Mr. Dean of the office force, who, while eating dinner, noticed flames issuing from the interior and placed in the water to third floor of the building. Rushing downstairs, he immediately notified the superintendent of the grounds and the apparatus was summoned by telephone. Meanwhile, several employees endeavored to cope with the situation by means of hand extinguishers, but their efforts proved futile, and when the Lowell companies reached the scene, the entire building was a mass of flames. Huge quantities of smoke ascended to the sky and in such a volume as to be clearly visible for miles around.

The destroyed clubhouse was formerly opened under the auspices of the Vesper Country Club on Thursday, June 29, 1906, and since that time it has been the scene of many memorable gatherings. Before the purchase of the property by the trustees of the organization, Tyng's Island was a famous resort and played host to thousands of pleasure-seekers, not only from Lowell, but also from cities and towns from all sections of this state and New Hampshire.

Taking into consideration the present cost of materials it is probable that the loss, which is partially covered by insurance, may reach $70,000. The cost in 1906 was over $25,000.

News of the fire, as given out exclusively by this paper in its 7 o'clock edition yesterday afternoon, gained rapid circulation among the club members and scores motored to the island during the evening to view the ruins.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"For Ply's Sake," which is proving one of the season's knockouts, at the H. F. Keith theatre, this week, provides one of the most interesting entertainment features seen here in a long time. It is a real treat to see an all-time great, like Eddie Howard, play a specially good part. It is presented in faultless fashion. The remainder of the bill is of good quality. Polly & Co. present one of the most attractive of tuneful offerings, and which issues, Weythe & Wynn are snappy young stars who have an original turn. The Dancing McDonalda are fast moving stepsters. Force & Williams contribute to the variety of the show, and the Great Johnson is an exceptional equilibrist and aerialist.

A SPLENDID EXHIBITION

The Home Beautiful exposition at the Memorial Auditorium is now open and we can say without exaggeration, that it is decidedly the grandest display of the kind ever attempted in Lowell. In fact, it will astonish many visitors who have attended similar expositions in Boston and other metropolitan cities. In the public eye it lifts the city of Lowell to a higher level than ever before attained in the matter of merchandising all that enters into the making of the home beautiful from the foundation to the tiles on the roof and everything necessary to the most exquisitely furnished home. The artistic designs shown in the various booths reflect credit upon the architects and the contractors who did the work.

This exhibition perhaps more than any other single event held in the Memorial Auditorium, shows up the great facilities offered by this building for an exhibition of the kind and they are all utilized. When the merchants, the contractors and the general public combine to promote any movement for the public welfare, its success is assured. It augurs well for the successful results of this exposition that the contractors and business men generally have so united for a common purpose and are working for the improvement of the city and the welfare of its people.

In yesterday's Sun, the various booths were fully described and pictures of most of them presented in a manner that must have impressed the public with the great extent of the work done in preparing this splendid exposition and presenting such beautiful and artistic scenes as are witnessed on the stage, the floor area, as in the corridors and ante-rooms of the Auditorium. Liberty hall is devoted mainly to an artistic array of exhibits in house furnishings.

As this is the first exposition of its kind ever attempted in Lowell, it is important that it shall be seen by as many of our people as possible. Those who work during the day, should attend in the evening in order to catch the meaning of this enterprise and at the same time to show appreciation for the work of the men and the business firms that carried this exhibition to such a splendid success. Not for years have we had such a fine display of public spirit as has been shown in the production of this Home Beautiful exhibition by its promoters.

AN INDEFENSIBLE POLICY

There can be no effective defense of the proposition to enforce the Volstead law against foreign vessels entering the three mile limit to the extent of insisting that they shall not carry intoxicating liquor within that limit even though under seal.

That is the import of one decision; and now comes another decision providing that all foreign vessels arriving in American ports must list on their manifests every article on board. Suppose that a foreign vessel, French or British, suspected of carrying liquor, were searched or seized by the government, what would be the result?

No foreign government would submit to any such arrogance on the part of the United States. It would be almost as bad as the offenses for which we declared war against England in 1812. It is simply indefensible, and if persisted in would not only make trouble with other powers, but would destroy our trade. Adherence to this rule would place the United States outside the international customs that have prevailed since the early days of this republic.

In the British house of commons on Monday, the government was asked what it would do if the United States confiscated British ships carrying liquor as sealed cargo or stores. Before the responsible minister had time to answer, a labor member—Mr. Lansbury—interjected this answer: "Do what you did with the soviet—break off negotiations and go to war." Rough and hastily spoken, that answer came very near expressing the feeling of the British in reference to the whole matter. This country is being made ridiculous by the extreme to which this matter is being carried. It has more than it can do apparently in the matter of enforcement at home without attempting to impose prohibition on vessels entering our ports to the extent indicated.

It is expected that common-sense will eventually prevail and that the government at Washington will find a means of nullifying this provision of the Volstead act even if it be necessary to call a special session of congress for the purpose. The United States would not submit to any such dictation by foreign governments and it should not try to impose such a condition upon others. The soviet government of Russia said it would impose whatever laws it pleased upon foreign ships entering its ports; and perhaps nothing it has attempted in this line would be more offensive than this law that the government at Washington has promised to enforce on all foreign vessels entering our ports after June 10.

BUSINESS BOOM

For the second consecutive month, pig iron production in April broke all previous records. Our country now is making iron at an annual rate a tenth more than the record year 1916. Railroads are smashing all former records in freight movement, for this time of year. The greater the crop of nuts, the more severe the winter, instinct tells squirrels. Like the squirrel, save for the time of necessity.

American export balance is nearing the vanishing point, business experts announce. They mean, we are buying from other countries almost as much as we are selling them. This doesn't leave much surplus to keep gold flowing our way.

And it is a good thing, this restoration of balance. A nation in foreign trade is like a crossroads storekeeper—bad policy to sell, indefinitely, more than is paid back. The ideal condition is perfect balance, exports and imports equaling but never exceeding each other. The greater our purchases abroad, the sooner shall we check inflation by lowering the amount of gold hoarded in the United States treasury.

THE IOWA VICTORY

One of the most significant political upheavals since the congressional elections last November occurred recently in the Thirty-seventh Senatorial district of Iowa, where a democrat has defeated a republican by a majority of necessary breathing places.

THE LOWELL SUN FRIDAY MAY 11 1923

SEEN AND HEARD

Dining rooms are large rooms where supper is late.

Home is any old place a man hangs his hat on the floor.

A garden is where you hoe lettuces and cabbage get a head in their race with weeds.

Back porches are places where tools borrowed from neighbors are kept, and kept and kept.

A Thought

The devil is very near at hand to those who, like monarchs, are accountable to none but God for their actions.—Gustavus Adolphus.

New Twist At Right

They've put a new twist to the bitter cigarillo joke. A business man in Philadelphia, maddened at the slow delivery of his important mail, shot and killed a Confederate veteran, thinking he was a bitter carrier.

Faithful Servant

James was a privileged retainer who had grown old in the service of his master and mistress. He was waiting at table one day when a guest asked for a fish fork, but his request was ignored. "James," ordered his mistress, "Mrs. Jones hasn't a fish fork. Get her one at once." "But Madam," protested James, "the last time Mrs. Jones dined here we lost a fish fork."

Tragedian Warned

August Thomas was talking about Buskin, the great comedian of a former day, "Buskin," said Mr. Thomas, "was always getting married and divorced and married again. At the supper celebrating his marriage to Mrs. Seck a tragedian drank too much champagne and indulged in profane language. Buskin, of course, was very angry. He hauled up the tragedian and said: 'See here, if you can't keep a decent tongue in your head I shan't invite you to any more of my weddings.'"

A Sailor's Love

Supremely happy because they had just become engaged, an English sailor and his girl sat contentedly hand-in-hand in the gallery of a music hall. "Bill," she whispered, giving his hand a little squeeze, "I am all-in-all to you and you are all-in-all to me. Will it always be so?" "Yes," answered Bill promptly. "All my life from now till the second of June and from the 3d of November till—Bill dear. In the time between the dates mentioned I shall be Yachting' in the Mediterranean."

Station Agent's Worry

A stranger was standing on the platform of a small railway station when the Northern express—the pride of the line—slashed by. Into the whirl of dust raised by the train leaped the station master's dog and tore madly up the track in pursuit. "Dona your dog often do that?" asked the stranger. "Yes, sir. Every time the express passes, the dog is after it like a hare." "That's queer," commented the stranger. "Why does he do it?" "I don't know," replied the dog's owner, scratching his head thoughtfully. "What worries me is, what is he going to do with it when he's got it?"

Prison Routine

In the smoking car the conversation turned on the merits and demerits of various ways of preserving health. One stout fellow man held forth with great eloquence. "Look at me," he shouted. "Never a day's sickness in my life, and all due to simple food. Why, gentlemen" he continued, "from the age of 20 to that of 40 I lived an absolutely regular life—no ostentatious delicacies, no late hours, no extravagances. Every day, summer and winter, I was in bed regularly at 9 o'clock and up again at 5 in the morning, worked from 8 to 1, then had dinner—a plain dinner, mind my words; after an hour's exercise, then—" "Excuse me, sir," interrupted the facetious stranger in the corner. "There is some one holding you back," he said.

The Strangle

The fever stirred and the world grew calm. I was washed in waves of warm content. And voices blurred their lugubrious psalm. And there was a cry I tried to respond.

The fever fell as the voices died. The singing pulses at last were dumb; And an angel came and stood at my side:

"You are healed," he said, "you may rise and come."

The fever returned as I strove to rise. For I found I was chained; I was bound to the bed.

He ached me, urged me. Then, in surprise,

"There is some one holding you back," he said.

The fever grew; we were born with strife.

And I ached and suffered he muttered, at last.

"She has beaten my strength, for her hold on your life."

Was greater than mine" And the fever passed.

—By LOUIS ENTREMYER in the May Harper's Magazine.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in inches, what a terrible array they would present! Through childbirth, wedlock and motherhood women toils on, often suffering with backache, pain in side, headache and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Dr. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given in a trice.

LOCOMOTIVES

Fifty thousand railroad trains are moving constantly these days in the United States. Fifty thousand locomotives—and another 16,000 chronically laid up for repairs.

The car shortage will probably become acute this fall when crops move to market. These personal car shortages are not primarily due to lack of enough cars, but rather because railroad terminals and motive power, or locomotives, are inadequate. It is important news, that the Baldwin people this year will build 50 more of locomotives.

The state of New York has taken up a great fight against the gypsy moth, to be conducted during the coming summer. It appears that the moth in that state has done considerable damage to the trees and the State Conservation commission is determined to stamp it out if possible.

"More land for park purposes" is a good slogan. There are plots of land in congested centers now available that if not taken over by the city for park purposes will soon be built over, thus depriving future generations of necessary breathing places.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It seems like old times again to have the K. of C. Dramatic club putting on a show this year and to have Thomas J. Beane directing it. Mr. Beane is too well known in Lowell dramatic circles to need an introduction, and there are thousands who are wishing him the best of luck as stage director of "The Witching Hour," the Knights' production this year. The make-up of the club is splendid, and under the efficient handling of Mr. Beane, the success of the show is assured.

Daylight saving has created an unfavorable impression on many of the cities which formerly were greatly in favor of it. It used to be that the fathers were the only ones pitted against this legislation, but now the radio fans are muttering against it. I met one "bug" the other morning, he looked rather tired, so I asked him what was troubling him. "Daylight saving" was his answer. It used to be, when we were under eastern railroad time, that stations in the central west were only one hour behind us and the best of their concerts came between 10 and 11 o'clock central time. Now we are under daylight saving time, which puts us an hour ahead of eastern standard, and many of the middle western stations remained on central standard time. Ten and 11 o'clock central time, meant 11 and 12 eastern time, and the fans didn't mind staying up till midnight, but 11 o'clock central time means 1 o'clock daylight saving time and they have to stay up until the wee hours of the morning now if they want to get the middle-western stations.

It is expected that about 50 Lowell troopers will avail themselves of the opportunity to compete in the Great Boston rally, to be held in the Harvard stadium. Four thousand scouts are expected to enter the various events at this meet. The Lowell troops will hold a rally on the South common May 14, the first spring outdoor event to be staged by the local scouts. The salute to the colors, review and inspection will be part of the program. Competitive events will include water boiling, equipment race, emergency carries, relay race and competitive first aid work. The affair will close with an assembly and awarding of prizes to the winners.

The appointment of the following committees were made at the meeting last night. Hon. John C. Leggett, Rev. A. C. McClifford and John M. O'Donnough were elected to the camp committee. Organization committee, George H. Stevens, Albert E. Thurston and Edward W. Daly. Special publications, David S. Pouzner, Robert F. Marley and Frank D. Prector.

Plans were outlined for the holding of a mass meeting in the fall, which would be attended by all business institutions and others interested in the scout movement, for the purpose of explaining the purposes of the organization and its future plans. Several national officers of the scout association will be brought here for the occasion. It was voted to accept the invitation of the G.A.R. to participate in the Memorial day parade. Announcement was made that 12 Boy Scouts were doing duty at the Home Beautiful Exposition every day.

They do say that "Jack" Condon at the Edison school will never grow old, and there is more truth than poetry in this assertion. Last Monday afternoon, the general "John's" baseball team opened the grammar school league auspiciously by winning a no-hitter, no-run game against the Collingwood school on the South common. It was Mr. Condon who prepared the Edison team for its season's contests and the boys surely vindicated his ability as an instructor when they started the season in such an impressive manner.

On Tuesday afternoon, "Jack" was an interested spectator at the Lowell Textile-Providence college game on the Moody street campus. But there was an added reason for his presence on that occasion, and the reason was "Ned" Condon, son of the Edison school janitor and a member of the snappy Providence baseball outfit. "Like father, like son," remarked a friend as young Condon cavorted about the playfield as his dad was wont to do in the days of yore.

Local members of the bar and justices of the district court are still debating the recent action of the Middlesex county commissioners in voting a $325,000 appropriation for improvements to the county building in Cambridge. Some months ago, it will be recalled, the lawyers of this city conferred with the county commissioners relative to an appropriation for the erection of a new district court building or for renovations to the present Market street quarters, but as yet no definite word has been forthcoming from the powers that be. It is generally agreed that the present situation in the local court building is deplorable and needs immediate remedying. Few words can be added to what has already been said on the matter, but the practicing legal men here are not hesitant in justly criticizing the discrimination against Lowell.

"Mr. Reporter," said a prominent citizen at the Home Beautiful Exposition last evening, "congratulate The Sun on its splendid issue this afternoon describing and picturing the exhibits at the Auditorium. It told of the qualities rather than what might be seen there or what was seen in New York, Chicago or Kalamazoo. It was also to the credit of The Sun that it was the only paper to tell the people of Lowell of the burning of the Vesper Country club house yesterday afternoon. 'Oh!' said the Man About Town. 'That is nothing unusual for The Sun.'

ACTIVITIES PLANNED BY

Caton, Master of Horses Under Czar, Will Drive Here

FRISCO JUNE, CHAMPION PACING THREE-YEAR-OLD, ON LEFT; THE HARVESTER ON RIGHT, AND, CENTER, WILLIAM CATON.

By N. E. A. Service
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 11.—WILLIAM Caton, who for 15 years was in absolute charge of the Imperial stables of Russia and master of horses under Czar Nicholas II, will drive Forest Park stable entries this summer on the Grand Circuit.

Caton has had charge of Forest Park stables, owned by Paul Kuhn, Terre Haute horse fancier, since he returned to the United States several years ago after a revolution broke out in Russia.

Caton lost almost all his personal belongings at the outbreak of the revolution. He managed to bring home a watch, bearing the Russian coat of arms, given to him impersonally by the czar before the latter's death, for winning a national derby in Russia.

Caton, while in Russia, was in charge of 500 race horses and 3000 other thoroughbreds in the Russian government stables. He went to Russia following the World's Fair at Chicago in 1893 when he was 18 years old at the repeated requests of Russian nobility.

Caton was born on Forest City farm in Cleveland, O., which is now the North Randall race track.

When the Russian revolution broke out he was forced to work three years for the government. He managed to escape and made his way to Constantinople and from there went to England. He managed to get his wife and family out of Russia before the revolution became serious.

In explaining how he came to take up horse racing, Caton said that for five generations back his people were all horse lovers. He expects the Caton name to be held up as race horse drivers through his younger son.

MEETING OF THE LOWELL LIFE UNDERWRITERS

The speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Life Underwriters association held in the Fairbank building, was B. J. Pouzner, of the Sunday Telegram, who spoke on the necessity of life insurance. The meeting, which was largely attended, was presided over by John J. McPhadden. At the close of Mr. Pouzner's address a brief business session was held during which Daniel A. Whaley, chairman of the outing committee, reported funds on the arrangements for the outing which will be held on the second.

Mr. Pouzner said in part: "We say to you that I have always been interested in insurance. I am stating what I mean, namely, that I believe that life insurance is a fundamental requirement of modern society. In some respects newspapers hold the same relation to society as life insurance. If it were not for the fact that newspapers were published all over the land, a democratic form of government would be impossible. In order to operate the government as a democracy we have to be able to think upon a given thing at about the same time. That is what we do at election time. Newspapers in this country have performed a great service in the education of the masses of men to a realization of current affairs, not only local and national but international,

and have enabled the every day man to appreciate the fact that these affairs affect his personal place in societly in a very important manner at times. In a democracy like ours, it is absolutely essential that events that happen be speedily called to the attention of the general public, in order that when the necessity for action upon them arrives, thorough information may have previously been disseminated.

"The press has performed a worldwide service in man's education in the intellectual field. Insurance has performed a similar function in the economic field. Newspapers have performed the function of equalizing the intelligence of the inhabitant up to a certain point at least. The life insurance institutions and their wonderful field organization have performed a service of similar proportions in the economic field by making it possible for the poor man to measurably equal the economic situation of his family in the event of his untimely decease with that of the wealthier member of society."

Here's Brand New Theory to Puzzle Over

By N. E. A. Service

WASHINGTON, May 11.—All who understand the Einstein theory may now get busy with the quantum theory. One's as simple as the other.

Besides it pays to understand the quantum theory. Dr. William Duane, learned scientist of Harvard university, has been awarded $1500, for his

TIS! TAINT!

MANY DISPUTES

DR. WILLIAM DUANE

Investigations into the theory, by the National Academy of Sciences. The money comes from the Comstock prize, awarded once every five years for scientific discovery.

The quantum theory deals with atomic structure and the radiation of light. Heretofore it had been accepted that a light wave and radio wave radiated similarly. But Dr. Duane says his investigations proved the contrary.

Energy released from an atom in the form of light always goes out in definite "packets" or "quanta."

Dr. Duane says radio waves resemble the waves created on a quiet pool of water when a pebble is tossed therein.

Simple, isn't it? But although Dr. Duane has won many to his way of thinking, other noted scientists disagree, which leaves the matter steadily confused to ordinary mortals.

The secret's out!

It's come to town at last

Country Club Bread

H., and other New England towns have come to regard as the best in bread.

And with good reason. For it has the crisp, tender crust; soft, firm texture and full, wheaty flavor that means complete appetite-satisfaction.

What is more, it gives you the utmost in nutrition from its rich, perfectly balanced ingredients—an extra amount of pure, rich milk and Fleischmann's Yeast; best blended flours; Swift's and Silver Leaf pure lard; finest salt and cane sugar and filtered water.

Nurse Stacey's Suggestions to Middle Aged Women

MRS. H. STACEY
COLLINSVILLE, ILLINOIS

A MOST trying period of a woman's life is that of middle age, fraught with danger to some extent, and invariably with most annoying symptoms, such as hot-flashes, smothering spells, nervous troubles, irregularities and fainting spells.

When a woman like Nurse Stacey after many years of caring for the sick writes a letter of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound like the following, it should influence other women who are passing through the Change of Life to try it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It helps nature to build up the weakened, nervous system, and enables women to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Nurse Stacey's Letter Follows:

COLLINSVILLE, Ill.—"I could almost write a book in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In the first place my husband induced me to try it and I have continued taking it off and on for years. I have become a well woman from its use and am now taking it through the Change of Life just to be on the safe side. I first took it for backache and a weak condition of the whole system and I think it saved my life and my baby. She is now a mother and takes it herself and I think I can count as high as a hundred women I have recommended the Vegetable Compound by what I write."—Mrs. H. Stacey, Collinsville, Illinois.

Another Woman's Similar Experience

"During the Change of Life I was always tired and weak, could hardly do my work and did not care to go anywhere or talk to people. After I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I noticed a change and before I had taken four bottles of it I felt like a new person. I can and always will recommend it in cases like mine."—Mrs. Jos. Wanish, 1119 S. 18th St., Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

DEVELOPS STAR PLAYERS

"MAKE IT HIGH BALL,"
SAID EVANS TO PRES.

Manager Rickey of St. Louis

Cardinals Seldom Buys a

Player

By BILLY EVANS
"Get 'em young and train them to be stars."

That is the theory of Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics originated it. Rickey is a firm believer in its efficiency.

The theory followed so logically by Mack and Rickey is in direct contrast to that of Manager McGraw of the Giants. Miller Huggins of the Yankees and a majority of the major league leaders.

The system of Mack is beginning to bear fruit as far as the Athletics are concerned. Mack is positive that the experimental days are over, that his team has arrived. Mack has a young ball club. If his high hopes are justified, his club will be in the running for a number of years to come.

Sister Protege of Rickey

Rickey brought George Sister to the front. Sister didn't cost him a cent, coming direct from the University of Michigan. The judgment of Rickey relative to young players is shown by the number of troubulng youngsters on his payroll who were secured without the outlay of a single penny.

Prior to the opening of the season, the Chicago White Sox paid $100,000 for Willie Kamm, while McGraw handed over $15,000 for O'Connell and $65,000 for Bentle, practically a quarter of a million dollars for three players.

Rickey can't see the percentage in such extravagant expenditures. A few of Rickey's young stars with the Cardinals can be catalogued as follows:

Stars Scanned Cheap

First baseman Jim Bottomley—Found in the semi-pro fields of Nokomis, Ill. Purchase price nothing.

Outfielder Jim Blader—Graduate of High School Circuit in St. Louis. Found by Rickey, developed in minors. Purchase price nothing.

Catcher Harry McCurdy—Graduate of University of Illinois. Purchase price nothing.

Pitcher Edwin Dyer—Converted into an outfielder. Graduate of Rice Institute at Houston, Tex. First year in professional baseball. Purchase price nothing.

Shortstop Elegan, who has replaced the veteran Johnny Lavan in the Cardinals' line-up, is protege of Rickey's from Ohio Wesleyan University, the same meter of the Cardinal manager.

Another young initiate who gives great promise is Holmes from the University of Iowa. Holmes is shortstop, but is mighty versatile and can play elsewhere.

Rickey insists that Outfielders Blader and Mueller are just as good ball players as Jimmy O'Connell. He also desires to emphasize the fact that neither Blader nor Mueller cost him a cent.

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, May 11.—When President Harding officially opened the season at Washington by tossing the first ball to Umpire Billy Evans, it was noted that the president, after the manner of major league pitchers, conferred with his battery partner.

As the president's ball was in his box to simulate Walter Johnson's pitching style, and Billy Evans took on his position near the home plate, the cameras clicked and the movie operators used up many feet of film.

"What would you prefer, Mr. Evans, a high ball or a low one?" asked the president.

"Make a high ball, I haven't seen one for a long time," replied Evans.

Whereupon the president grimaced, wound up in the most approved fashion, and then delivered a high ball, that forced Evans to extend to the limit for a one-handed catch.

"The president sure had a kick in that high ball," observed Billy, as he surveyed his bare hand much reddened as a result of the grip with which the ball was delivered.

France's star auto racer, Jules Goux, is again entered in the Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile dash.

Ten years ago Goux came over for the first time and took highest honors,

"I am a Frenchman," he said.

Large Crowd of Royal Rooters on Hand—Coach Liston Confident of Victory

The Lowell high school baseball team was being looked over by the fans of Lawrence at its annual game this afternoon, when Coach Jimmie Liston, took the field, under Coach Liston, took the field, with the annual battle with the members of the Lawrence high school nine, to

The Lowell boys left the high school in a large truck shortly after one o'clock, accompanied by Manager James Conway and several members of the faculty. A large crowd of royal rooters went over the road at the conclusion of the regular school session, while the players were presented by a couple of thousand radial fans.

Before game time Coach Liston was undecided as to whom he should assign to start duty. If Wednesday's game had not been cancelled, Gibbons was to have received the assignment, but the long rain after the conclusion somewhat tested Smith, Littlefield and Carpenter reported in the best of shape and warmed up in an impressive manner.

With ten victories out of five starts, Gibbons received one of the positions and, in view of the long rain, confidently looked forward to annexing the fifth win at the expense of the down-river men.

A return game will be played at Springfield park on Saturday, and should a third game become necessary, the event of the tie, the score of play will be decided by the flip of a coin. This will not come to pass, over Lowell's rooters, as the red and gray expect to win the first two contests and the series.

NORWICH UNIVERSITY AND TEXTILE SCHOOL

Norwich university will visit the Moody street campus for a game with "Bob" Ganley's Textile school team tomorrow afternoon. At tomorrow will mark the annual reunion of the members of the Textile school, one of the largest and most historic in America, the game. Despite the fact that the Moody street institution has been forced to swallow the bitter pill several times this season, the team has played good ball and deserved to win some of the games marked up as defeats.

During its recent trip to Vermont, Norwich won 6-2 to 2 victories at the expense of the locals. Textile hopes to reverse this decision tomorrow and with Ray Farwell again in condition, the hopes of the rooters have been revived. Saturday's game will start at 3:15 o'clock.

He's a Sure Shot With a Revolver

By N.E.A. Service

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 11.—Dr. Calkins, whose exploits with a revolver have won him international fame, turned in a remarkable piece of shooting, not so long ago when he broke a world's record by shooting 247 out of a possible 250.

This total has been equaled only once, but Dr. Calkins' score takes precedence as his lowest shot was a nine, while the previous record contained an eight.

The greatest credit attaches to the record made by Dr. Calkins when it is considered that during the present winter, the period of colds and grippe, both Dr. Calkins and his shooting partner, Dr. W. R. Russell, another fine shot found it necessary to abandon their matches in the middle of the night after rounds of sick calls have been completed.

The match in which Dr. Calkins made his record is an instance of this Dr. Calkins and his partner, Dr. Russell, began shooting in the morning at 1:30 o'clock and ended at 1:20. This shooting, of course, required the presence of the shooting master of the Springfield Revolver club and one other witness.

NICK CAPTURED

BYE AND BYE HE FLEW OVER BING-BANG LAND

The Toy Maker shipped two brand-new airplanes to Bing-Bang Land by express.

The Tinker Man opened them and put the parts all together like the smart Tinker man he was.

Then he called Nick, "Which one do you wish to fly in?" he asked. "The one belonging to the wooden soldiers or the one belonging to the tin soldiers? Which side are you on?"

"I'd better stick to the wooden soldiers," answered Nick. "I cannot be a trailer, sir."

"Good!" cried the Tinker Man. "But you are too big to run this toy airplane the way you are."

"What is easily fixed," said Nick. "Don't forget that Nancy and I have Magic Shoes."

So he proceeded to wish himself quite small and soon he was in the airplane learning all there was to know.

Bye and bye he flew away over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang

GERALDINE FARRAR
LEASES N. H. FARM

NORTH HAMPTON, N. H., May 11.

Geraldine Farrar, prima donna, has leased a 150-acre farm near this town for a period of two years and will come here for rest and quiet as soon as the place can be made ready for occupation, it became known yesterday.

The farm has an old colonial house and is situated near the ocean, but far back from highways and other residences. It is not far from the Littleton's Head summer colony and is owned by A. W. Strong, a half-brother of Harry R. Thaw.

Miss Farrar was quoted as having declared that in the enclosed estate she had found the ideal place to recover from the strain of the court proceedings incidental to her suit for divorce from Lou Tellegen in New York.

A HOMELY HOUSE MIGHT BE A HOME BEAUTIFUL.

It depends not on the house alone, but first on the location, second on the grounds about the house. Third on the house and last, but most important of all would be the people who live in it; for no HOME is a HOME BEAUTIFUL unless there is pleasure and happiness within.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME—With all the worry and trouble to keep up payments and interest, taxes, etc., has been many a curse to the HOME BEAUTIFUL.

Build Your Own Home But Build Within Your Means

Do a little work yourself. It will do you good, don't spend all your time and money on gasoline. Take a little pleasure in life by getting something out of life.

The first step in HOME BEAUTIFUL is the step you take and the more steps you take the more BEAUTIFUL your home becomes.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 19

Of course Flip could run very fast, and he was gaining rapidly on shiny old Spook. Jack kept calling to his dog but it did no good. Then, just ahead, Jack saw Spook dash up a tall, slender tree. As the ent reached the top, the tree dropped down and landed Spook safely over a stream.

"Well," shouted Jack, as he caught up with his dog, "I'm glad that cat got away." Then he asked Eeny Meeny what was on the other side of the stream. "We'll go right over and see," said the old man. "Just follow me." And Eeny Meeny led the way over a bridge of logs as Flip swam alongside.

Jack was not so sure of his footing and he had only reached the middle of the log crossing when Eeny Meeny stepped on the other shore. Just then the logs started to move and, quick as a flash, Eeny Meeny beat another tall tree down and told Jack to grab hold. Jack did, and was swinging to safety. (Continued.)

BOSTON GOLFER, LAST SURVIVOR OF AMERICAN TEAM, ELIMINATED IN BRITISH CHAMPIONSHIPS

Ouimet Went Down to Defeat After Gallant Uphill Struggle—Wethered Took Bostonian's Measure in Semifinals 2 Up and 1 to Play, After Ouimet Had Overwhelmed Tolley in Morning Round

DEAL, May 11.—(By the Associated Press) French Ouimet, last hope of the visiting American golfers in the British amateur championship tournament, went down to defeat this afternoon after a gallant uphill struggle.

Roger Wethered, the Oxford expert, took the Bostonian's measure in the semifinals, 2 up and 1 to play, after Ouimet had overwhelmed Cyril Tolley, considered England's best bet, by 4 up and 3 to play in the morning round.

The last trace of American color to the championship affray was lost through the result of the other semifinal match in which Robert Harris, of the Royal and Ancient, defeated Douglas Grant, American resident of England, by 5 up and 4 to play.

Ouimet was 2 down to Wethered at the turn and 1 down on the 18th, but he rallied gallantly, winning the 11th and 13th. The best he could do was to halve the next two, however, thus losing the match with Wethered, 2 up and 1 to play.

News of Ouimet's defeat at the hands of the brilliant Wethered was received in Lowell with genuine regret, for the extreme popularity of the American player reaches to all corners of the world where golf is played. If normal support could have carried Francis into the finals tomorrow, he would have prevailed against the Oxford star without an effort, but unfortunately, his game slipped away from him when he needed it most.

For a man whose physical make-up is no stronger than Ouimet's, despite the wizardry of his game, it might have been asking too much of him to dispose of Tolley and Wethered in the same day. If he had done so, it would have been afeat comparable with his victory over Vardon and Ray at Brooklyn 10 years ago.

When it was dashed under the sun this forenoon, however, that Tolley had succumbed to the artistry and soundness of the American's game, hope for Ouimet's ultimate and complete success ran high, only to be snuffed out when he bowed to Wethered.

That he went down with colors flying and was the first to shake his opponent's hand, goes without saying, for the Brooklyn boy is a gambler, whose smile pierces the haze of defeat just as brilliantly as though they were silver-lined clouds of victory.

POSTMASTER DELISLE PLANS TO GIVE CLERKS AND CARRIERS HALF HOLIDAY ON SATURDAY

Postmaster Xavier Delisle announced this morning that he had received a communication from the postmaster general giving him permission to grant Saturday afternoons as a holiday, providing there was no added expense to the department, and that service would not be curtailed in any way. Mr. Delisle stated that he had been working out plans the past few weeks to devise some scheme of rotation, which would enable him to grant this half holiday to the clerks and carriers.

The granting of a half holiday to the carriers is the perplexing part of the problem, asserted the postmaster, owing to the fact that deliveries have to be made at stated intervals, according to a prearranged schedule. The clerks for the last few weeks have been granted half-holidays, and it is to correct this discrimination that the postmaster is striving. The communication states that the holiday must be Saturday afternoon, and that it be in effect only when there is a let-up in the incoming and outgoing mail.

The stores close Thursday, and the mills, and many of the shops suspend operations Saturday afternoon, making it a hard problem to get one day in the week when there is an evident suspension of business. "The plan of the half holiday has my hearty endorsement," said Mr. Delisle, "and I will give the employees the time off. If there is no decrease in the efficiency of the department." Where there is no suspension of business no employee will be excused under this plan, reads the communication from the postmaster general.

TO RESUME OPERATIONS AT THE CITY LEDGE

Operations at the city ledge, which were suspended last fall for the winter, will be resumed some time next week. Sup't. Doherty of the street department stated that a gang of men are now putting the place in shape for the resumption of operations and he said he expects that before the latter part of next week he will have a gang of 30 men on the job. The department will not buy new machinery for the plant, but minor repairs are necessary and will be completed within a few days.

The city has endeavored to buy rock and stone from outside firms, but has been unable. Last year, said Mr. Doherty, the city purchased stone from contractors in Fitchburg, Lawrence, Lowell and Winchester, but this year these firms are unable to supply the city as they have contracted with others. The city ledge will not be able to keep the street department supplied with stone, but the superintendent stated he will do what he can with whatever supply he gets.

Simms Says Next Few Months Will Decide Future of Austria

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
Special Cable to NEA Service and
The Lowell Sun
VIENNA, May 11.—Whether Austria is to live or die will be determined during the next few months. Incidentally, the League of Nations will soon have the life into the face of those who dubbed it a rope of sand, the impractical dream of a visionary. That is, if Austria survives. If Austria succumbs, the league will have lost its first big case and will have received a very considerable blow. Late in April or during May, the Austrian minister to London, the

PILES

Can't Be Cured From the Outside

External treatments seldom cure piles.

Now do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins labhy.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely pit yourself and you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Glands and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded.

He named his prescription HEM-ROID.

and tried it in four cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take and can always be found at drug stores. There they will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—ADV.

defray any government expenses without an order from Mr. Zimmerman.

More Refreshing

Austrians are beginning to use the deposit department of the banks again, deposits now growing at a rapid rate. This, Dr. Zimmerman explained, is one of the very best possible signs. It shows the confidence of the Austrians themselves—once at the disappearing point—is returning.

Free rides are to go in December and reduced fares are to go in December. Free fares are to go in December and reduced fares are to go in December. The League of Nations plan a visit to America. They are sending to sound out the money market with respect to Austria.

Already this commission has visited the capitals of Europe—London, Brussels, Rome. The League on a similar mission.

Are Encouraged

I understand they have met with considerable encouragement. America, I understand, will not be pressed. In fact, the mission will not go to America at all if there comes the slightest hint before they sail that the United States will receive them coldly.

Austria's deficit—while getting her blood in order so she can balance her own budget—unadjusted—is calculated by the League's experts at something like $160,000,000.

A short-time loan to carry Austria over the spring months has already been negotiated—at Paris, Brussels,

Rome, London, Amsterdam and Christiana.

Something like $100,000,000 or a little more will be needed in addition.

This loan will be for 29 years, guaranteed by Austria's tobacco monopoly and her customs.

The commissioner general of the language here, told me he considers this guarantee more than sufficient and absolutely sound.

The income from these sources are already being paid into the newly created Austrian Bank of issue—the government can no longer print paper money at will—to a special account and not a cent of this can be used to

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY WEDS MISS KENDRICK

The First Baptist church was the scene of one of the most beautiful weddings of the year last night when Thomas Richard Williams, boy's secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and Miss Helen Kendrick were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Appleton Grange, pastor of the St. Anne's Episcopal church, owing to the absence of the regular pastor, Dr. Edward Baldwin, who was officiating at the wedding of his sister in Brooklyn.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Williams were honored with a reception at the Y.M.C.A. by the governors of the association. Several hundred friends of the couple assembled in the gymnasium to extend their congratulations to the bride and bridegroom. The ushers for the reception were the board of governors of the Y.M.C.A., under the direction of Mr. Woodbury E. Townsend, supervisor of the decoration. The bride was assisted by Bruce Douglass, Ernest Hood, Edward Hood, Robert Trinkler, Chester Patton, Sam Lamp and Abraham Ratchin. Mr. and Mrs. Williams received the guests in one corner of the room, standing under a bower of varicolored flowers. The couple will start on an extended European tour Tuesday, where Mr. Williams is to attend the World conference of Boy Workers to be held at Potschach, Austria.

The bridal couple were attended by Mrs. Delta Kendrick, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Hon. William J. MacInnis, mayor of Gloucester, as best man. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. J. M. Kendrick. The bride wore a gown of white lace crepe trimmed with lace and a bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridegroom wore a sand satin crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The ushers wore George Wagner, James E. Flemings, Albert Willis, Harold F. Howe, Harold McMillan and Ray Nichols. Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Harriet MacCallum and Miss Amelia MacCallum, aunt and cousin of the bridegroom and Murdoch MacInnis, brother of the best man, all of Gloucester. George Marriam, state boy's secretary, who has been closely associated with Mr. Williams in his work in the Y.M.C.A., was also present.

The musical program given by Wilfred Kershaw, organist of the church, comprised the "Nuptial Fantasy" by Shepherd; "Grand Marche," by Wagner, and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

HERE COMES DOCTOR DOLITTLE

The quaintest, merriest, most lovable genius of the age. The queer little doctor with his amazing adventures—his family of curious pets—his voyages to animal lands—his hair-raising escapes with the aid of the wise beasts and birds—is like no other character you ever read about. "Alice in Wonderland" is outdone at last.

Read the first of Hugh Lofting's Dr. Dolittle stories and you'll be hungry for the rest. Just one chuckle after another, and the kind of fun that warms your heart. Children and grown-ups will laugh together over the whimsical antics of Dab-Dab the duck, Jip the dog, Gub-Gub the baby pig, Polynesia the parrot, Too Too the owl, and Chee-Chee the monkey. Thrills, too, beside the fun.

They are great—the cleverest thing of the kind ever printed. You will read them yourself, laugh with the children about them and then hurry to tell all your friends to get acquainted with Dr. Dolittle right away.

And the pictures—drawn by Hugh Lofting—plenty of them, and just as quaint and whimsical as the stories.

DEMONSTRATING THE ELECTRIC RANGE

At the wonderful exhibition now going on at the Memorial Auditorium, Mrs. Ellison is endeavoring to show the latest in how to cook with the latest equipped Electric Range. One of the special comforts of electric cooking is the convenience of the kitchen during the time the range is operating. Because of a glow heat, there is no heat caused by convection, the range never becomes blackened, therefore you save the corresponding necessity of scrubbing utensils and the time thus spent daily. Also the range stays bright and clean always. The elimination of fatness and the fact that there is no flame means matchless cooking and protection from the fire hazard. With an electric range, cooking is done in exact silence. No more work and no failure, the heat being under perfect control. It can be regulated so that there is an even temperature of 350° thus for the many different kinds of food to be cooked.

Mrs. Ellison is demonstrating at the Atherton Furniture Company's booth, the Worcester Street Company, and she will be glad to answer all questions relative to cooking by electricity, and here, by the way, is one of her recipes for sugar cookies:

Heat the oven to 450° F. and bake 8 to 10 minutes.

Two butter, 5x cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 beaten, 1/2 tables. milk, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup of raisins.

Cream the butter and sugar, add eggs, flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder and mix well. Blend the flour and mix the butter and sugar, cutting the cookies with a well floured cutter. Place on a buttered tin and after baking with melted butter and sugar, bake in a quick oven.

Values Tend Upward in the Worsteds

LOWELL, April 23.—The Merchants National Bank of this city says in its quarterly summary of the woolen and worsted industry:

"Values still tend upward in the woolen and worsted industry, both on raw materials and manufactured products. In last month's report, values were quoted as having risen 10 per cent. in a month ago, but the fine grades have shown a distinct tendency to harden. Buying of new clip territory wool has increased in western houses paying about 25 per cent. more than they did a year ago for some large lots. The London auctions reflected on the 24th with merino and the crossbreds up 5 per cent. to 10 per cent. and the crossbreds up 5 per cent. British has been very firm and has registered an advance in the recent sales of about 10 per cent. over the previous closing."

"Merino. In consequence of the continued rise in the raw material and the recent advance in wages, some manufacturers have increased prices in their factories by 10 per cent. in recent weeks. The general tendency in the industry is to reflect on the prices of fine cloths for spring, 1924, most be priced moderately higher than last year. Cloths were quoted at the opening of the current season. Clothing manufacturers in opening their lines of men's suits and overcoats have announced average advances of $1 to $3 per garment, which would indicate that retail prices will be increased by $2 to $3."

Postmaster General New Admits Leaders at Odds—

Democrats Also Divided

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Admitting a division in the ranks of the republican party, but at the same time, declaring "the estate of our democratic adversaries is not better," Postmaster General Harry S. New in an address here last night asserted that both parties are suffering from "lack of cohesion."

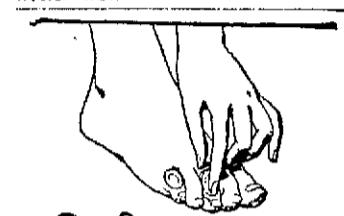

The postmaster general pleaded with his auditors for party solidarity against "blocs," individuals with party theories and fragmentary factions. Accomplishments of the Harding administration he declared, may bring about the unexpected in the "form of

As the principal speaker at the centennial celebration of the birth of John Sherman, Mansfield's most famous citizen, Mr. New urged "more faith and less criticism—faith in this country of ours and faith in the party to which we belong."

While the postmaster general did not cite cause for the division within his party, he set forth the league of nations and wet and dry legislation as points on which various leaders in the democratic party are at odds.

He did remark, however, that "their differences and divisions are no less sharply defined than those with which we are afflicted."

The postmaster general pleaded with his auditors for party solidarity against "blocs," individuals with party theories and fragmentary factions.

Members of Troupe Fleur-de-Lys, an organization composed of local talent, who on various occasions have delighted the French-speaking element of this city with the presentation of good clean productions, scored another big success last evening when they presented "Un Dueil En Amour," a three-act, forceful comedy-drama before a large and appreciative audience. The production was given in the Colonial theatre, Middlesex street, and the manner in which the program was given reflected great credit upon Mrs. Eva Forsythe, promoter and leading lady, and Thomas Rochette, theatrical director.

"Un Dueil En Amour," better known under title of "Bataille des Dames," is a favorite play in colleges and high schools and although it has been played in various schools of the country, it was given its first presentation in this city last night. The play unfolds a very interesting story and it contains just enough humor to keep the audience in good mood.

Between the acts there were very enjoyable numbers given by Mrs. Nora Regan Longtin, accompanied by Miss Valentine Sonstides; violin and piano duet by Misses Allen and Blanche Levy; vocal selections by Joseph Blanger; exhibition dances by the Un-nagan sisters, as well as orchestra selections.

Those who took part in the cast of "Un Dueil En Amour," were Mrs. Eva Forsythe, Miss Irene Tessier, Jean Tessier, Albert Lachance, Thomas Rochette, Joseph Belanger and Edmund Anbut. They all rendered their parts in a very commendable manner, but special mention should be given to Mrs. Forsythe, who has shown exceptional ability as the leading lady. Mr. Rochette was also complimented for his excellent work.

PINEHURST PARK

OPENS FOR SEASON

Pinehurst park, located among the pines in Billerica, on the Lowell-Woburn road, is now under new management and it will open for the season tomorrow night, with a dance to music by Frank Clark's orchestra of Lowell.

Edward J. Fahey of Lowell and

Walter H. Chandler of Billerica, two popular and well known young men, are the leaders of the park for the season. They already have begun a complete renovation of the buildings and grounds and plan to make the park one of the most attractive in this part of the country.

Pinehurst, which gets its name, because of its beautiful pine grove, is accessible to several towns via motor buses, and the new managers plan to also improve transportation service to and from the resort.

During the summer season Messrs. Fahey and Chandler plan to allow all church organizations and clubs the free use of the grounds for picnics and outings. They are also planning to conduct several novelty events. For the present dancing will be run every Saturday night.

Frank Clark's orchestra of Lowell has been engaged to furnish music for dancing.

FIND BODY IN POND

Police Believe Aged Recluse
Murdered in Cottage
Body Dragged to Pond

REDDING, Conn., May 11.—The body of George Hultz, 72-year-old recluse, who disappeared from his cottage at Topstone last Friday night, was found in Unipawaug pond last midnight. The body was brought to the surface by four men from New Milford, who came here last evening to aid in the search, which had been unsuccessful for six days.

The finding of the body of Hultz bears out the state police theory in the case which was that Hultz was killed in his cottage, probably by robbers and his body dragged across the meadow to the pond and thrown in. Blood stains on the grass and a blood stained vest formed the principal clues on which the investigators based their reconstruction of the crime. Hultz's cottage was burned down and gave little evidence for the officers to work on.

Chester Murray, a New Milford blacksmith, with a grapping iron of his own design, came to Unipawaug pond last night, accompanied by Constables Bruce Neering, W. J. Kifer and Timothy McMahon, all of New Milford. They went out in a boat and at midnight were successful in their search. The body was found in the middle of the pond.

Awaits Word of Release
Continued

Schurman, who arrived here with his wife and niece at midnight, announced that he expected hourly to hear that the Suchow train bandits had released all of their captives.

The most important factor in obtaining the release of the prisoners, Mr. Schurman said, was the withdrawal of the government troops which had pursued the brigands to their strongholds. This was now being carried out, he said, to such an extent that negotiations with the bandits could proceed.

"The Chinese authorities, in my opinion, are doing everything possible," said Mr. Schurman. "The employment of foreign military forces has not been considered."

Mr. Schurman said that Miss Lucy Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was released by the bandits, still was at Tientsin and had fully recovered from her experience.

Movie Fans Hear Favorite Stars
From WHN, Screen-Radio Magazine

THE SCREEN-RADIO MAGAZINE IN PROGRESS. RUTH RONAN, MOVIE STAR, BROADCASTING A TALK FROM WHN. BELOW, CHARLES REED JONES, THE "INTERVIEWER."

BY NEA SERVICE

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., May 11.—Radio fans who are also movie lovers, are getting the treat of their lives from broadcasting station WHN, here.

They are hearing their favorite film stars by radio.

In other words, a motion picture magazine is being broadcasted to the movie-radio fans, three times a week. Every Monday, Thursday and Saturday evening, at 7:30, the fans tune in on WHN and listen in on what they usually find in movie magazines, some what later.

The idea was conceived by Charles Reed Jones, formerly editor of a movie magazine, now in charge of this feature of the WHN program.

The new "Screen Radio Magazine" looks like any other movie magazine, is devoted to news and personal gossip of the players, reviews of photoplays and radio interviews, says Mr. Jones, who is in charge.

RADIO FOR THE ELECT IN GERMANY

You have to be a banker or successful business man to take up radio in Germany. For, under present conditions, the radio fan is taxed half a million marks annually for broadcasting service.

Besides, of this high cost, mostly banks and industrial organizations are subscribing to a regular news broadcast service in Germany. A private company in Berlin is sending international news from the Koenigs-wuerkstaetten radio station, which it receives through the Nauen plant from the large stations in the United States, Sweden, Switzerland and other countries.

Besides news of general interest, there are financial news from New York, London, Paris and Berlin. The broadcasting lasts for two and one-half hours, every morning and evening.

Subscribers take their receiving sets from the broadcasting company. For this they pay 200,000 marks annually, and for the service the annual fee is 200,000 marks.

IT FAR EXCEEDS OUR EXPECTATION

Mrs. Becker Tells How Her Husband Took "Dreco" and Obtained Such Surprising Relief.

Everywhere one goes these days they encounter people who are not feeling their best, not downright sick but failing to some extent. That tired out, droopy, achy feeling, the stomach out of order, bowels constipated, liver sluggish or kidneys damaged. These are the people that Dreco does the most good for, as is proven by numerous testimonials from persons who have given it a fair trial. For instance:

"My husband is highly pleased after taking two bottles of Dreco for it has really helped him more than the expected," said Mrs. Alida Parker, residing at Flushing, Long Island, New York.

No doubt the trouble came from stomach disorder which brought on constipation, holding sour gas after meals, was most annoying and spells of heartburn often followed. In addition a sluggish liver added to his discomfort for many spells and occasions often attacked him. He would get up in the morning feeling tired out with no energy to do a thing, and his nerves were on edge all the time.

"I do not hesitate to say that Dreco has given him much relief from these troubles for he feels in much better shape than before taking it. I'm sure anyone can take Dreco and get a lot of relief from it."

Dreco goes right to the vital spot, toning up the organs that are weak and aids them to operate as Nature intends. That is why Dreco gives such prompt relief to the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder and eliminates the poisons from the blood.

DRECO is being introduced to the people of Lowell by Green's drug store, call on them and let them tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. They will honestly tell you whether or not they think DRECO will benefit you. Also Dreco is being sold in Nashua by the Nashua Pharmacy Co., 175 Main Street.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD HOLDS HEARINGS

The public service board held hearings on a number of street and sidewalk petitions. In the councilmanic chamber at city hall last evening. At the close of the hearing a brief business meeting was held during which it was brought out through a communication sent to the board by the city council that there is available for street, sewer and sidewalk work only $49,000 if the city is to keep within the debt limit. The board then voted to request the council to hold the remaining amount ready for street and sidewalk orders, which are to come in the future.

The most important hearing last night was that on the petition of residents of Butler road for the widening and macadamizing of the thoroughfare from Andover street to the end.

Those who spoke in favor of the petition were George H. Taylor, representing the C. E. Holman estate; Charles S. Proctor, Frank E. Kimball, E. R. Knowles, Lillian R. Powers, Charles F. Hobson and A. A. Goward. Major Ed-

WEAK AND RUN-DOWN

After Serious Operation
WINCARNIS
Restores Her Strength

"Not long ago my daughter was obliged to undergo a serious operation which left her in a dreadfully weak and run-down condition. She had no appetite and was as white as a sheet. She really looked as if she had no blood left in her. She was also very nervous."

The doctor had given her some medicine to build her up but she did not seem able to get her strength back. In fact, her improvement was so slow that it had me mighty worried."

I heard about Wincarnis and got her bottle. It worked wonders. She began to improve right from the start. It was simply wonderful how quickly she regained her strength and put on weight, and how the color came back to her cheeks."

ward J. Noyes, Frank Burke, J. H. Decatur and Francis Cunningham objected to the granting of the petition on the ground that the widening of the street would eliminate the fine trees along the sidewalk in front of their homes. They favored putting the street in a passable condition, however. This matter was taken under advisement.

The petition of Lillian M. Bishop for the acceptance of Hawthorne street was laid on the table, as was that of Daniel J. Crowley for the laying of cinder sidewalks in Bunker Hill street. The petition for repairs in Beacon street was referred to the superintendent of streets and that for the repair of Blossom street was placed on file.

"The petitions granted were as follows:

Frank Ricard for cement sidewalk at 444-446 Fletcher street.

Arthur J. Roux for sidewalks at 54 Mammoth road and 23 Third avenue.

Louis Marchand, for sidewalks and edgestones at Fourth avenue and Moody street.

Annie D. St. Hilaire, sidewalks at Mt. Hope and Riverside streets.

Alexandre Gervais for 100 feet of cinders and edgestones at Riverview street near Lakewood avenue.

Susie K. Mawn, cement sidewalks at 25 Methuen street and Merrill avenue.

Sarah T. McCarthy, edgestones and cinders at 18 Georgia street.

R. A. Maxfield for edgestones and cinders at 152 Dartmouth street.

William Butler and Everett V. Steele, fraternity council; Maurice Villeneuve, Frederic Beck and George Currier; banquet committee, Philip S. Cannell, Maurice Villeneuve, William Rivers and Alexander Campbell.

Plans for the annual Upstream day were taken up at a recent meeting of the student body. This is the annual affair of the school held at the Martin Luther grounds and a committee consisting of Valentine Steele, Hart, Brigham, Deering, Chase, Blenstock, Brosnan and Wright were appointed to take the matter under consideration.

Last year, for some unaccountable reason, the affair was not held and the students do not want to go through another year without holding it.

The class of 1923 will soon add its section of the campus fence as is done each by the graduating class, and stand at the end of the present campus is being filled in so that within a few years the school can enlarge its sporting ground greatly.

The program was varied and included songs by the Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Miss Amy Tucke; selections by the school orchestra, under Miss Catherine Eaton; a dance in costume by the ninth grade pupils under Miss Kathleen Driscoll; and a playlet representing a lesson in a French school. The program was varied and included songs by the Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Miss Amy Tucke; selections by the school orchestra, under Miss Catherine Eaton; a dance in costume by the ninth grade pupils under Miss Kathleen Driscoll; and a playlet representing a lesson in a French school. This last number was given in French and demonstrated what has been accomplished in the teaching of French in the school.

The class of 1923 will soon add its section of the campus fence as is done each by the graduating class, and stand at the end of the present campus is being filled in so that within a few years the school can enlarge its sporting ground greatly.

BOSTON MEN FOUND GUILTY OF LARCENY

Alleged larceny of radio material from two electrical shops resulted in the calling before the bar of Justice, in the district court this morning, two business men in Boston, doing business in Boston and had no business to be here on the date of the theft.

It was alleged that these two young men, in company with Constantine Murphy, who is now in the Lawrence jail awaiting action in the superior court on a similar complaint, entered the stores of John Meagher, at 447 Merrimack street, and the George A. Hill company, on Middlesex street, on the 12th of April and took from the first a radio coupler valued at $12 and from the latter, three tubes valued at $15 each. Mr. Meagher, Eamon H. Stevens, E. Fisher, D.D., of the First Universalist church, The future Mr. and Ernest D. Shaw, the last two employees to the Hill company, received the special to the three young men entering the Lowell stores and while one interviewed their stores and while one interviewed the clerk, the other two busted themselves in another end of the store and in both cases, it was found that articles were missing after they left.

Egan pleaded guilty, but Taylor did not. On the stand Taylor testified that he had never been in Lowell before and that he is in the real estate business in Boston, doing business in Boston and had no business to be here on the date of the theft.

The records of these two were introduced and it was shown that they have been in court in Lawrence and Lynn on similar charges. Judge Bright, after hearing pleas for leniency from both, made the above finding of guilty.

His Attendance Yesterday

Yesterday, the second day of the exposition, saw the Auditorium literally packed with interested people from the opening hour until the hour of closing, and at times it was necessary to close the doors so that no more could get in until some that were already in left.

The bungalow situated on the stage was the big drawing card yesterday and the thousands who visited the Auditorium took great pains to see everything inside this little house as well as to view the exterior. The living room of this was furnished by the Goodwin company in Present street, the kitchen by Michael F. Goodwin company, and Robertson Bros. furnished the dining room.

Another big drawing card yesterday was the fashion show given in the afternoon and the evening. In the afternoon, the showing was of afternoon dress and dress for sporting, but children and misses gowns were shown as well. In the evening the gowns were made for evening wear. REPARATIONS QUESTIONS

F. L. Hoffman Urges a Satisfactory and Equitable Settlement.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Urging a satisfactory and equitable settlement of the reparations question, F. L. Hoffman of Baldwin Institute today told the annual meeting of the American academy of political and social science, that "French imperialism is as much a menace to mankind as German imperialism."

"The world's sympathies are with France," he said, "but the world's judgment is clearly against the course she has taken in seeking by force of arms what would have been yielded to her by proper political and economic pressure."

"France has not gained, but lost, by the Ruhr occupation. Each day only increases the sinister complications. If the objective of the occupation is reparation in full, that objective is being destroyed."

TRAFFIC CONDITIONS ARE INTOLERABLE

"Traffic conditions in Middle street are intolerable," said Superintendent of Police Thomas A. Atkinson this morning. "The police department is going to ask the owners of pleasure vehicles who park them in Middle street indefinitely, to find some other place of parking, owing to the congested condition of the street and the fact that we are receiving complaints from business men on the street stating that they cannot find room there to do their business, and the parking there in such great numbers also adds greatly to fire hazards on that street. If a fire once got going there during the day, I don't know what would happen. It is the worst street in the city now and Market street is running a close second. Market street is wide enough to allow passage through even though a number of machines are parked along the side of the street."

Another matter that the chief is concerned about is the habit of many automobile drivers in parking their cars right where there is a yellow sign stating "No parking allowed." This is a violation of the city traffic ordinance and he wishes this notice to be a warning to those who are in the habit of parking where they are really forbidden to park. He said that wherever there was such a sign, there was some reason for it, and that it was not for the drivers to say where they would park regardless of everyone else; they must realize that there are others to be considered.

Big Lowell Concern Has Attractive Merchandise to Offer Home Builders

There is one Lowell company exhibiting at the Home Beautiful Exposition with a booth in the main auditorium, that is one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the country and it is safe to say, in no other city can lay claim to a variety of similar magnitude in the variety of paints, glass, hardware and all other products.

This concern is the C. B. Coburn Co. of Market street, that for 60 years has faithfully served the home owner and the house builder with quality goods at prices that satisfy the purchaser, and tend to make them regular patrons. To attempt to enumerate the things the C. B. Coburn Co. sells would require pages of description and hours of time as they occupy a five-story building given over entirely to the housing and selling of merchandise, but if the visitor to the exposition will call at the Coburn booth he can get an excellent idea of many interesting and interesting things that this company can do to help to make a home beautiful, secure and safe.

The booth is in charge of Walter Flynn, advertising manager of the company, assisted by members of the clerical forces who will be on duty throughout the week. Mr. Flynn has been one of the biggest men connected with the exposition, as he has been the advertising director, having complete charge of all the public work related to the exhibition.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Dracut Man Arraigned in District Court—Case is Continued to May 25

Elmore L. Pierce, of Peabody, was arraigned in district court this morning, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle after causing an injury without reporting the same. He was also arraigned on a manslaughter charge continued from April 19. Both were continued until May 25, as the grand jury is acting on the manslaughter charge at the present time.

This new complaint is connected with the manslaughter charge in that it concerns his running down and injuring Oliver C. Ahrens, an aged man, at the corner of Hall and Aiken streets on the evening of April 19. After striking this man, it is alleged that he put him into his machine and drove to a secluded spot in Waller street and put him off there upon a rim of bushes. Ahrens was found by Miss Eleanor Sutton of the State Normal school, and she called Charlie A. Tremblay of 4 Arcadia street, who notified the police and the ambulance. Ahrens died about five hours after being taken to the hospital.

It happened that the accident was witnessed by Leo A. Tremblay, who helped put the man into the machine, thinking that Pierce would take him to the hospital. Tremblay also took the number of the machine and when he heard what had been done, he notified the police of the number of the machine and they soon found the injured at the hearing.

Head of Soviet Delegation at Lausanne Peace Conference Assassinated in Hotel

Two Other Members of Russia Mission Wounded—Assassin Captured

LAUSANNE, May 11.—(By the Associated Press) M. Vorovsky, head of the Russian soviet delegation at the Lausanne peace conference, was assassinated last night. He was shot several times and killed, outright.

M. Ahrens, head of the Soviet press bureaus in Lausanne, and M. Didurkowsky, another Russian, were wounded, the former seriously.

Vorovsky and his party were dining at the Hotel Cecil. A young man seated a few tables away arose after he had finished his dinner and leisurely partaken of coffee, calmly walked over to the Russian's table and opened fire without warning. Vorovsky was the first victim and the assassin then turned the weapon on Ahrens, who was struck by three bullets, twice in the thigh and once in the shoulder.

Ahrens, nevertheless, managed to draw a revolver on his assailant, but a waiter rushed forward and knocked out his arm. Meanwhile the assassin shot Didurkowsky in the body.

The assassin was seized as he attempted to escape from the hotel. His name is Maurice Alexander Conrad, and according to the police, who subjected him to a severe grilling, belongs to the Canton of Grisons.

Conrad is 38 years of age and was born at Anders. He expressed no regret and admitted that he had formerly served in the Russian army, had returned recently from Russia and came to Lausanne yesterday from Zurich, where he had been residing.

Inspired By Vengeance

LAUSANNE, May 11.—(By the Associated Press) Conrad told the police last night that his uncle and brother had been tortured and murdered by the Bolsheviks during the terror in Russia. His act in shooting the Russians, he declared, was one of vengeance.

BIG COAL COMPANY SUSPENDS SHIPMENTS IN MASSACHUSETTS BECAUSE OF NEW STATE LAW

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, May 11.—That at least one of the big coal producing companies has suspended shipments into Massachusetts, because of the law passed this year permitting state officials to seize "unburnable" coal, is indicated in a letter which has been received by the special committee created by the present legislature to investigate the whole coal situation, and of which Senator John W. Haigis of Greenfield is chairman.

"That passage of the law, which was recommended by Governor Cox, would have this effect, was stated in the legislature while it was under consideration. But the pressure for its passage was so great that the legislature turned a deaf ear.

Now the state, beginning the summer with far less coal on hand than for the past two years, is faced with the refusal of one of the big companies to send any coal into the state unless the retail dealers whom it serves will guarantee it against loss. This, of course, they will hesitate to do.

The special committee, which is to give its first public hearing on the matter next Wednesday at 10 o'clock, issues the following statement today:

"Beginning its coal year, April 1st with only 183,000 tons of anthracite coal on hand in the commonwealth, as compared with 227,000 in 1921, and 308,000 in 1922, the smallest amount in recent years, Massachusetts is facing a grave situation in which the combined effort of every agency within the state must be brought into force, if an adequate supply of fuel is to be secured for next winter, and in order to avoid a repetition of the extreme suffering of the past few months.

"The advent of warm weather should cause no cessation in the concerted attempts within this commonwealth to speed up receipts of anthracite during the early months of the coal year, especially in view of the uncertainty of the situation, with a further curtailment of production possible when the present wage contract between the operators and miners on August 31st.

"With the express purpose of the joint special coal investigating committee is to attempt to devise some permanent plan to provide an adequate fuel supply for Massachusetts, the committee believes it would be derelict in its duty if it did not endeavor to anticipate the situation and warn the public as to the probable emergency within the next few months, and to this end it will spared no effort.

"At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, May 16th, in Room 370, state house, the committee will hold its first public hearing, which the committee believes will be an extremely important hearing. Letters from the public and the retail coal trade are being received by the committee daily, expressing dissatisfaction with present conditions and offering various suggestions for improvement in the present fuel distribution system.

"At this hearing the details concerning the operation of the new law regulating the quality of coal in this state, will be heard. Massachusetts was the first state to enact such a law, as a result of events during the past winter of more than 200,000 tons of coke and coal which were sold upon the people as coal. Thousands of dollars were paid for this fire-proof coal, so-called, which resulted in total loss to the consumer. Under the new law more than 200,000 tons of unburnable coal have been seized, and several dealers have been prosecuted for their part in selling the coal.

"On the other hand, coal dealers are now complaining that their coal shipments are being held up as a result of this law, and this question will be thoroughly looked into by the committee at its hearing. A copy of a letter received by some of the retailers from one coal producing company has been received by the committee, and is here reproduced, in order that the public may know both sides of the mines when loaded into cars for rail-

situation. The letter reads as follows:

"We have had brought to our attention the new law of the state of Massachusetts approved by the governor, March 23, 1923, providing for the seizure and disposition of coal which is deemed unfit for ordinary use by certain minor officials designated therein. This law calls for the condemning of coal by these officials without any way specifying the standard which will pass muster, leaving it entirely to the discretion of these officials to dispose of this coal as they see fit and settlements to be made to the owner of the coal less all expenses and other charges they feel fit to impose upon the coal."

"We are quite sure that the quality of Latimer coal and other coals handled by this company are such as to cause no uneasiness as to the condemnation of our coal; however, we cannot hold ourselves open to the merits of any petty official who may have a private grievance or other cause, who has such latitude to confiscate coal. We therefore suspend all shipments into the state of Massachusetts until we receive a letter from your selves and other consignees to whom we are shipping, accepting the ownership of all coal shipped for your account, either by rail or by boat, at the mines when loaded into cars for rail-shipment or at the water ports when loaded into boats.

"We shall, therefore, appreciate your advising us to this effect as early as possible."

CHILDREN'S PARTY
The children of the Westminster Presbyterian church enjoyed themselves to their hearts' content last evening in the church vestry. The occasion was a party exclusively for them and the program, which was carried out under the direction of Miss Florence Ross, was exactly what the little ones expected. Games were played and entertainment numbers were given by little Miss Barbara McCrindle. Refreshments were served by Miss Eleanor Macdonald, assisted by Misses Jean Macdonald, Mary Wright, Christine Brown, Florence Ross and Malcolm McKinley. James Brown and Francis Wright.

VESPER COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE AT TYNG'S ISLAND IN TYNGSBORO DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, believed to have originated in a short circuit of wires in a blind attache, totally destroyed the main clubhouse of the Vesper Country Club at Tyng's Island, Tyngsboro, yesterday afternoon, causing the passing of one of the best known club buildings of its nature in New England and one familiar to hundreds of members of the golf fraternity in Lowell and other cities.

Fortunately club attaches, aided by members who happened to be nearby, managed to save some of the first floor furnishings and tables, silver, linen and other necessities.

Great, as the loss would be if the fire occurred at any time during the year, it is a particularly staggering blow to the club just at the time with the regular and summer seasons just under way. Aside from the tents and cottages in the pine grove and along the river front, the main building provided all the club's overnight accommodations and last summer, from June to October, practically every room was occupied. Many families have spent summer vacations at the island in recent years and all this meant helpful revenue, aside from the pleasure it gave those who were privileged to enjoy the comforts and homelike atmosphere of the rambling building.

The fire may have a tendency to restrict the club's plans in connection with the state amateur golf championship to be played over the Vesper course the last of June, but it is not believed the loss of the house will mean a cancellation of the tournament.

The glass was discovered shortly after 2:30 o'clock, and although everything possible was done to save the structure, the fire-fighting conveniences were inadequate and incapable to compete with the wind-fanned flames. A short circuit in the partitions on the third floor directly above an open fireplace is believed to have been responsible for the fire. With the aid of a high wind, which swept down the river at this point, the flames spread with amazing rapidity and the building was soon doomed to destruction. As no fire-fighting facilities are located on the club grounds, hurried telephone communications to North Chelmsford and Lowell brought a crew of volunteers from the former place and Engines 2 and 6 from this city, and it was after 7 o'clock in the evening when the firemen left the scene.

Due to the increasing wind, it was thought that other club buildings on the island would succumb to flying embers, but firemen took added precautionary measures by sprinkling nearby structures at short intervals.

avert any further possible loss. The bouthouse survived, however, as did the superintendent of the grounds and the other buildings, including the beautiful and expansive new brick phone. Meanwhile, several employes golf house, recently erected on the island. Small, but dangerous grass trees, broke out on the Princeton and boulevard side of the river, and these when the Lowell companies reached the scene, the entire building was a mass of flames. Huge quantities of smoke ascended to the sky and it soon became evident that the loss, which is partially covered by insurance, may reach $70,000. The cost in 1908 was over $22,000.

News of the fire as given out exclusively by this paper last 7 o'clock edition yesterday afternoon, gained rapid circulation among the club members and scores motored to the Island during the evening to view the purchase ruins.

of the property by the trustees of the organization. Tyng's Island was a famous resort and played host to thousands of picnickers, not only from Lowell, but also from cities and towns from all sections of this state and New Hampshire.

Taking into consideration the present cost of materials, it is probable that the loss, which is partially covered by insurance, may reach $70,000.

The cost in 1908 was over $22,000.

A SPLENDID EXHIBITION

The Home Beautiful exposition at the Memorial Auditorium is now open and we can say without exaggeration, that it is decidedly the grandest display of the kind ever attempted in Lowell. In fact, it will astonish many visitors who have attended similar expositions in Boston and other metropolitan cities. In the public eye it lifts the city of Lowell to a higher level than ever before attained in the matter of merchandising all that enters into the making of the home beautiful, from the foundation to the tiles on the roof and everything necessary to the most exquisitely furnished home. The artistic designs shown in the various booths reflect credit upon the architects and the contractors who did the work.

This exhibition perhaps more than any other single event held in the Memorial Auditorium, shows up the great facilities offered by this building for an exhibition of the kind and they are all utilized. When the merchants, the contractors and the general public combine to promote any movement for the public welfare, its success is assured. It augurs well for the successful results of this exposition that the contractors and business men generally have so united for a common purpose and are working for the improvement of the city and the welfare of its people.

In yesterday's Sun, the various booths were fully described and pictures of most of them presented in a manner that must have impressed the public with the great extent of the work done in preparing this splendid exposition and presenting such beautiful and artistic scenes as are witnessed on the stage, the floor area, as in the corridors and ante-rooms of the Auditorium. Liberty hall is devoted mainly to an artistic array of exhibits in house furnishings.

As this is the first exposition of its kind ever attempted in Lowell, it is important that it shall be seen by as many of our people as possible. Those who work during the day, should attend in the evening in order to catch the meaning of this enterprise and at the same time to show appreciation for the work of the men and the business firms that carried this exhibition to such a splendid success. Not for years have we had such a fine display of public spirit as has been shown in the production of this Home Beautiful exhibition by its promoters.

There can be no effective defense of the proposition to enforce the Volstead law against foreign vessels entering the three mile limit to the extent of insisting that they shall not carry intoxicating liquor within that limit even though under seal.

That is the import of one decision; and now comes another decision providing that all foreign vessels arriving in American ports must list on their manifests every article on board. Suppose that a foreign vessel, French or British, suspected of carrying liquor, were searched or seized by the government, what would be the result?

No foreign government would submit to any such arrogance on the part of the United States. It would be almost as bad as the offenses for which we declared war against England in 1812. It is simply indefensible, and if persisted in would not only make trouble with other powers, but would destroy our trade. Adherence to this rule would place the United States outside the international customs that have prevailed since the early days of this republic.

In the British house of commons on Monday, the government was asked what it would do if the United States confiscated British ships carrying liquor as sealed cargo or stores. Before the responsible minister had time to answer, a labor member—Mr. Lansbury—interjected this answer: "Do what you did with the soviet-break off negotiations and go to war. Rough and hastily spoken, that answer came very near expressing the feeling of the British in reference to the whole matter. This country is being made ridiculous by the extreme to which this matter is being carried. It has more to do with apparent in the matter of enforcement at home without attempting to impose prohibition on vessels entering our ports to the extent indicated.

It is expected that common-sense will eventually prevail and that the government at Washington will find a means of nullifying this provision of the Volstead act even if it is necessary to call a special session of congress for the purpose. The United States would not submit to any such dictation by foreign governments and it should not try to impose such a condition upon others. The Soviet government of Russia said it would impose whatever laws it pleased upon foreign ships entering its ports, and perhaps nothing it has attempted in this line would be more offensive than this law that the government at Washington has promised to enforce on all foreign vessels entering our ports after June 10.

BUSINESS BOOM

For the second consecutive month, pig iron production in April broke all previous records. Our country now is making iron at an annual rate a tenth more than the record year 1914. Railroads are smashing all former records in freight movement, for this time of year. The greater the crop of oats, the more severe the winter, instinct tells squirrels like the squirrel, care for the time of necessary hibernation.

LOGOMOTIVES

Fifty thousand railroad trains are moving constantly these days in the United States. Fifty thousand locomotives—and another 16,000 chronically laid up for repairs.

The car shortage will probably become acute this fall when crops move to market. These particular car shortages are not primarily due to lack of enough cars, but rather because railroad terminals and motive power, or locomotives, are inadequate. It is important news, that the Baldwin people this year will build 50 million of locomotives.

And it is a good thing, this restoration of balance. A nation in foreign trade is like a crossroads storekeeper—bad policy to sell, indefinitely, more than is paid back. The ideal condition is perfect balance exports and imports equalling but never exceeding each other. The greater our purchases abroad, the sooner shall we check inflation by lowering the amount of gold hoarded in the United States treasury.

THE IOWA VICTORY

One of the most significant political upheavals since the congressional elections last November occurred recently in the Thirty-seventh Senatorial district of Iowa, where a democrat has defeated a republican by a majority of

Home is any old place a man hangs his hat on the door.

A Thought

The devil is very near at hand to those who, like monarchs, are accountable to none but God for their actions.—Gustavus Adolphus.

New Twist All Right

They've put a new twist to the letter carrier joke: A business man in Philadelphia, maddened at the slow delivery of his important mail, shot and killed a confederate veteran, thinking he was a letter carrier.

Faithful Servant

James was a privileged retainer who had grown old in the service of his master and mistress. He was waiting at table one day when a guest asked for a fish fork, but her request was ignored. "James," ordered his mistress, "Mrs. Jones hasn't a fish fork. Get her one at once." "But Madam," protested James, "the last time Mrs. Jones dined here we lost a fish fork."

Tragedian Warned

August Thomas was talking about Buskin, the great comedian of a former day. "Buskin," said Mr. Thomas, "was always getting married and divorced and married again. At the supper celebrating his marriage to Mrs. Sims, a tragedian drank too much champagne and indulged in profane language. Buskin, of course, was very angry. He hunted up the tragedian and said: 'See here, if you can't keep a decent tongue in your head, I shan't invite you to any more of my weddings.'

A Sailor's Love

Supremely happy because they had just become engaged, an English sailor and his girl sat contentedly hand-in-hand in the gallery of a music hall. "Hush," she whispered, giving his hand a little squeeze. "I am all-in-all to you and you are all-in-all to me. Will it always be so?" "Yes," answered Bill promptly. "All my life from now till the second o' June and from the 3d of November '11—'11 dear. In the time between the dates mentioned I shall be yachting in the Mediterranean."

Station Agent's Worry

A stranger was standing on the platform of a small railway station when the Northern express—the pride of the line—flushed by. Into the whirl of dust raised by the train leaped the station master's dog and tore madly up the track in pursuit. "Does your dog ever do that?" asked the stranger. "Yes, sir. Every time the express passes, the dog is after it like a hare." "That's queer," commented the stranger. "Why does he do it?" "I don't know," replied the dog's owner, scratching his head thoughtfully. "What worries me is, what is he going to do with it when he's got it?"

CARUSO'S ROYALTIES

Inside facts about Caruso reveal that his royalties from phonograph records alone amounted to two million dollars. Pondering which, it is not hard to understand why music writers and publishers are opposed to having their wares broadcast by radio, which they claim has cut heavily into their sales and profits.

Pierre Key's new book about Caruso says he kept his own set of books "on himself," even entering tips and the smallest expenditures. He never played the stock market! By watching the pennies, he rose from extreme poverty to be a millionaire. Small leaks empty the largest barrel.

BETTER PAY UP

Germany has been balking so long on this matter of reparations and without changing the attitude of France that she had better realize before it is too late, that her only hope lies in making the best compromise possible with France so that the business of both nations can be resumed in a normal way instead of having both largely tied up under the present occupation of the Ruhr.

France is under heavy expense and will naturally draw upon the district which she has occupied to recoup her losses. Thus the bill of reparations which Germany will eventually have to pay is likely to increase rather than diminish.

"DOLLAR" GASOLINE

Already there is talk of dollar gasoline and if Massachusetts and other states keep on piling new taxes upon gasoline, then the time may not be far distant when dollar gas will be a reality. Already the price of gasoline is higher than it should be. We may soon be witness that the supply of gasoline is running short and substitute will be in demand. This is one reason why it would be unwise to tax gasoline. The better way is to impose a tax on motor vehicles according to weight and that will be just to everybody. Let there be no double or triple taxation on motor vehicles.

LOGOMOTIVES

Fifty thousand railroad trains are moving constantly these days in the United States. Fifty thousand locomotives—and another 16,000 chronically laid up for repairs.

The car shortage will probably become acute this fall when crops move to market. These particular car shortages are not primarily due to lack of enough cars, but rather because railroad terminals and motive power, or locomotives, are inadequate.

It is important news, that the Baldwin people this year will build 50 million of locomotives.

The state of New York has taken a great fight against the gypsy moth, to be conducted during the coming summer. It appears that the moth in that state has done considerable damage to the trees and the State Conservation commission is determined to stamp it out if possible.

"More land for park purposes" is a good slogan. There are tracts of land in congested centers now available that if not taken over by the city for park purposes will soon be built over, thus depriving future generations of necessary breathing places.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It seems like old times again to have the K. of C. Dramatic club putting on a show this year and to have Thomas J. Beane directing. Mr. Beane is too well known in Lowell dramatic circles to need an introduction, and there are thousands who are wishing him the best of luck as stage director of "The Witching Hour" the Kults' production this year. The make-up of the club is splendid, and under the efficient handling of Mr. Beane, the success of the show is assured.

Daylight saving has created an unfavorable impression on many of the citizens which formerly were greatly in favor of it. It used to be that the farmers were the only ones pitted against this legislation, but now the radio fans are muttering against it. I met one "bug" the other morning, he looked rather tired, so I asked him what was troubling him. "Daylight saving," was his answer. It used to be, when we were under eastern railroad time, that stations in the central west were only one hour behind us and the best of their concerts came between 10 and 11 o'clock central time. Now we are under daylight saving time, which puts us an hour ahead of eastern time, and many of the middle-western stations remained on central time. Ten and 11 o'clock meridional and non-partisan activities were standard time, meant 11 and 12 eastern time, and the fans didn't mind staying up till midnight, but 11 o'clock central time means 1 o'clock daylight saving time and they have to stay up until the wee hours of the morning now if they want to get the middle-western stations.

Speaking to Postmaster Xavier Deleuze the other day, our talk gradually drifted around to Washington. It was a cold day with miserable showers making one feel that New England was no place to live. Finally the conversation got around to the beauty of Washington, and I innocently inquired if he had ever seen the thousand or more Japanese cherry trees in bloom. He had and he declared that it was just about this time when they bloomed and they transformed the avenue which they border into a fairyland of beauty, incomparable with anything else he had ever seen. It seems too bad that Lowell can not have something like this for an early spring attraction.

They do say that "Jack" Condon at the Edison school will never grow old, and there is more truth than poetry in this assertion. Last Monday afternoon, the gents "John's" baseball team opened the grammar school league auspiciously by winning a no-hit, no-run game against the Coburn school on the South common. It was Mr. Condon who prepared the Edison team for its season's contests and the boys surely vindicated his ability as an instructor when they started the season in such an impressive manner. On Tuesday afternoon, "Jack" was an interested spectator at the Lowell-Textile-Providence college game on the Moody street campus. But there was an added reason for his presence on that occasion, and the "reason" was "Ned" Condon, son of the Edison school janitor and a member of the snappy "Pepuline" baseball outfit.

"Like father like son," remarked a friend as young Condon cavorted about the playground as his dad was wont to do in the days of yore.

Local members of the bar and judiciary of the district court are still debating the recent action of the Middlesex county commissioners in voting a $425,000 appropriation for improvements to the county building in Cambridge. Some months ago, it will be recalled, the lawyers of this city conferred with the county commissioners relative to an appropriation for the erection of a new district court building or for renovations to the present Market street quarters, but as yet no definite word has been forthcoming from the powers that be. It is generally agreed that the present situation in the local court building is deplorable and needs immediate remedying. Few words can be added to what has already been said on the matter, but the practicing legal men here are not hesitant in justly criticizing the discrimination against Lowell.

"Mr. Reporter," said a prominent citizen at the Home Beautiful Exposition last evening, "congratulate The Sun on its splendid issue this afternoon describing and picturing the exhibits at the Auditorium. It told of the novelties rather than what might be seen there or what was seen in New York, Chicago or Indianapolis. It was also to the credit of The Sun that it was the only paper to tell the people of Lowell of the burning of the Vesper Country club house yesterday afternoon. 'Oh,' said the man about town, "that is nothing unusual for The Sun."

A Promising Future

Los Angeles Times: They are going to send pictures by wireless. First thing we know the wireless will supply all our contact with the universe. In a few thousand years it will take place of every thing from the grand opera season to a square meal.

Budding Costs in New York

N. Y. World: The first building projects to be abandoned in New York, following advice to that effect from leading bankers and architects, were for charity and education. The Hebrew Orphan Asylum had planned a new building for its wards, but, confronted with estimates running above $1,000,000, the trustees will make the old structure do a few years longer, before replacing. Columbia University's new building plans that would cost $10,000,000, now a great building fund follows by running up a $7,000,000 deficit. The known total is over $40,000,000 and is augmented almost daily.

No one can view concrete facts like these without feeling regret and lively curiosity whether something cannot be done about it. The newly formed building-trades council proposes that a check shall be put on exorbitant demands for wages in the building trades if the sellers of materials will cut their own, excessively high.

NEGLECTED BLOCK SOLD

Neglect is an abundant room for improvement in that field, as the Lockwood committee showed, but it will not help matters for the council to say that building-trades labor receives only 20 cents of each dollar of cost. Labor costs and extra charges enter also into the cost of materials.

ACTIVITIES PLANNED BY BOY SCOUT COUNCIL

The organization of a Boy Scout band of 20 pieces, the formation of a summer camp and the organization of a Court of Honor, were discussed at the second quarterly meeting of Lowell council, Boy Scouts of America, held at the Boys' club in Dutton street, last night. Dr. John J. Lambert opened the business meeting, which followed the appetizing supper, prepared especially for the 21 scouts in attendance.

Dr. Lambert read an interesting report of the progress of the Boy Scout movement in Lowell. He then called upon Scout Executive Edward J. Mellen for his report. Mr. Mellen stated that the number of troops had increased from 6 to 12 and that 14 other troops were in the making. The increase has added 154 scouts to the membership roll. The outline of the scout activities as read by the executive met with the hearty approval of the scouts.

Week-end hikes and camps, throughout all seasons of the year. The awarding of advanced grades and merit badges to worthy scouts, development of an emergency first aid crew, standard, and many of the middle-western stations remained on central standard time. Ten and 11 o'clock meridional and non-partisan activities were some of the activities discussed by Mr. Mellen. The list is one of the most extensive outlined for the scouts in membership and the enthusiasm shown, the program is sure to come through.

It is expected that about 50 Lowell scouts will avail themselves of the opportunity to compete in the Greater Boston rally, to be held in the Harvard stadium. Four thousand scouts are expected to enter the various events at this meet. The Lowell scouts will hold a rally on the South common May 19, the first spring outdoor event to be staged by the local scouts.

The salute to the colors, review and inspection will be part of the program. Competitive events will include water boiling, equipment race, emergency carries, relay race and competitive first all work. The affair will close with an assembly and awarding of prizes, to the winners.

The appointment of the following committees were made at the meeting last night. Hon. John C. Leggett, Rev. A. C. McCafferty and John M. O'Donnough were elected to the camp committee. Organization committee, George H. Stevens, Albert E. Thurston and Edward W. Daly. Special publicity, Bond S. Paetzner, Robert F. Maden and Frank D. Proctor. Plans were outlined for the holding of a mass meeting in the fall, which would be attended by all business institutions and others interested in the scout movement for the purpose of explaining the purposes of the organization, and its future plans. Several national officers of the scout association will be brought here for the occasion in such an impressive manner. On Tuesday afternoon, "Jack" was elected to the camp which was generally proud of the cast which is to be held in the auditorium. Mr. O'Brien was elected to the camp committee and the club to put the production in first class shape. Grand Knight John E. Hart an enthusiastic admirer of things dramatic, spoke at the meeting. Flaming Oil Wells Still Beyond Control CORSCANA, Tex., May 11.—The flaming oil well eleven miles west of here, which claimed at least 15 lives when a spark fired the gushing oil two days ago, was still beyond control today. Twenty boilers were set up to furnish steam to quench the flames. The gusher is being fed by constant flow of gas and oil, and is emitting a snake-like tongue of flame, plainly visible for 50 miles. Oil from the burning well is spraying a four-acre area.

Mrs. Henger Declares House of David Head Made Improper Advances to Her

Testifies "King" Asserted He Was "Testing Her Faith" When She Objected

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., May 11.—The grand jury delving into charges of immorality in the House of David colony today, continued the examination of witnesses, postponing adjournment over Sunday until tomorrow night. Mrs. Levina Johnson Henger, 20, who fled from the House of David colony two weeks ago, told Judge Harry Dingenman, the one-man grand jury, that "King" Benjamin Fornell, the cult leader, made improper advances to her when she was visiting at Shiloh last summer. "King" Benjamin, she testified, asserted he was "testing her faith" when she objected.

Lillian Boruff, a 17-year-old girl member of the colony, was called to testify after her name was mentioned by Mr. Henger, but she steadfastly maintained she knew nothing against Benjamin's character.

When she decided to leave the cult, Mrs. Henger said, she was requested to sign an affidavit that "King" Benjamin's morals were impeccable.

ments are concerned, I am an American, but I am not a damned fool."

He smiled when he was asked whether he planned to revive Harvey's Weekly for the presidential campaign of 1924, and said:

"I haven't engaged a printer yet."

Colonel Harvey said his present visit was his first leave of absence in two years. He was in the United States a short time ago, but came on official business.

Conditions in England, the ambassador said, are improving rapidly.

The ambassador denounced talk of British hatred for the United States as "propaganda," declaring the sentiment in England for the United States was more friendly than it ever had been before. He declined to discuss British politics or the world court and League of Nations issues.

David Lloyd George, former British premier, plans to come to America in the autumn. Col. Harvey said Lord Birkhead is coming over in August, to address the political institute at Williams college.

Col. Harvey said that he and Mrs. Harvey would proceed within a few days to Washington to see President Harding. Then, he said, he would go to his home in Peacham, Vt., for a short rest, despite the fact that he expected to face some criticism there as a result of his recently widely circulated declaration that all the inhabitants of Peacham had British ancestors.

When it was called to his attention that a German had been found in Peacham, the ambassador said: "Well, he must have arrived after I left there."

5000 BRAVE CHILLING BLASTS AT TWILIGHT LEAGUE OPENING

CENTRALVILLE WIN OVER Y.M.C.I. IN OPENING GAME OF 1923 TWILIGHT LEAGUE SEASON

Sam Pouliot Has Edge on Young Morais in Pitching Duel, Though Infield Error Brought About Lone Run of Game—Mayor Donovan Pitched First Ball—South Ends Play Broadways Tonight

RAYMOND L. FOYE,
Manager of Centralville.FRED LEONARD,
Y.M.C.I. Manager.

Nine men wearing the uniform of Centralville inaugurated the local Twilight league season by racking a 1 to 0 verdict at the expense of the Y.M.C.I. team on the South common last evening, while approximately 5000 faithful "first nighters" looked on and shivered out of respect to a temperature that was all but conducive to the occasion. Despite the noisy environment, the participants in the first game of the year played an excellent brand of ball and that augurs well for the future success of Lowell's own league. Centralville won because they took advantage of a break. "Sammy" Pouliot scoring from third with the solitary run that means victory while the institute representatives were deciding what to do with an errant ball.

The municipality was well represented at the playground by Mayor John J. Donovan, who warmed up on the sidelines prior to pitching the first ball, and Capt. John W. Kerney, who donned the big catcher's mitt to provide a perfect strike from the mayor's arm.

Centralville presented practically the same lineup that proved so effective in past seasons and which sent to the boys from across the river the title of "Wrecking Crew." The old reliable "Sammy" Pouliot was at his customary post in the pitcher's box when "Empire" Bob Ganley called play and "Sammy" made his season's debut an unassisted one by striking out seven in the first two hits, one of them of the scratch description, requiring a bit of himself and scoring the only run of the pastime. Unlike some other memorable occasions, Pouliot made passes a scoreless game, but he was not to be blamed for any error, and indifferently appeared on the two hits to his opponents.

For the Belvidere bunch, one Morais worked on the mound, but he was a comer to Lowell, but showed considerable stuff, as one can readily see by a glance at the scorecard showing but four hits to Centralville. He was backed up by a formidable aggregation, including three high school players, and Arthur Lynch, who played with Centralville for the past two seasons.

Each team put on a stubborn defense and it was anybody's game until the last man went out. Errors were rather than detracted from the interest in the affair. In the bottom department first runners went to McVey, the one who effected a three-base run around the ball for the longest walloper of the evening. The first inning was easy for the Centralvilles, who scored a run in the first man went out. Errors were rather than detracted from the interest in the affair. In the bottom department first runners went to McVey, the one who effected a three-base run around the ball for the longest walloper of the evening. The only other hits made were singles by Tommey Allen and Buckley of the Centralvilles and clouds of the same dimension by Eddie Cawley and Jimmy Linton of the Y.M.C.I. The first frame, Pouliot exemplified the proper functioning of bat by singling to right center, and Allen added one of McVey's fast ones for a belt to the same territory. Pouliot racing in third, Buckley drove a high one at Lynch in center field while the latter hesitated. Evidently thinking the shot a safety, Allen, who was then in the direction of home, and did a hurried dash to the right, when informed of the results in center. He made the base simply because Gath dropped Lynch's throw and spoiled a potential double play. To render the important double play more difficult, Pouliot dashed home and beat the homeplate in for home and beat the homeplate in for the run. The scoring ended then.

NOTES OF THE GAME
It was announced after the game that the contributions of the fans totalled $92.50. Last year on the opening night, the amount reached $19.

Morais, the Y. M. C. I. pitcher, is a former Tufts college twirler. He broken good.

"Sammy" Pouliot, the veteran of them all, still possesses plenty of stuff. He will be a hard man to beat this year.

The collectors were arm bands to signify their positions and the idea appears to be a good one.

Tommey Breen, Smith and Conlon were in uniform on the Y. M. C. I. bench while Tardis, a pitcher, sat in for Centralville.

Buckley made a nice catch of a long and hard hit to left center in the first inning. Had it gotten away, Ed the Lawley might have touched all the bags for a home.

The high school was well represented with three players in Y.M.C.I. uniforms and their coach behind the bat.

Sgt. Patrick Frawley, was on deck with his stick as usual.

Connie Mack's Sensational "White Elephants" Climb Into Third Place in Race

Yankees Batter Three Indian Pitchers Out of Box—Braves Drop Another Game

NEW YORK, May 11—Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, stung by relegation to their old classification of "White Elephants" because of a near-decade of miserable playing, continue to furnish the early season sensation.

Herman, one that contained victories over many of the leading weightmen of the east. He had never before performed in this city, but he made a good impression, despite the loss of the battle. He's a rugged, aggressive pitcher, with a good pumping power and an assimilating capacity. He was ever ready to take a half dozen to get one of his driving swats over.

Avila, however, gave his opponent few opportunities to succeed. The Lowell boy used his long left cleverly, sticking it into Herman's face at the beginning of every round. He kept popping with his extended hand over the entire journey, and he piled up points after points as the rounds were driven. Avila also excelled in walks, driving swats over.

With the aid of the snowman in Detroit, who kept the Tigers and the New York Yankees, who defeated Cleveland, 13 to 4, the Philadelphia team had outfought the Indians in the third position.

Everybody in the Yankee lineup hit at least once for a total of 16 swats and 26 bases and New York drove them away from the pack. Three Indian pitchers were hammered out of the box.

Dickie Steichle helped to bring college players into the limelight by crashing four hits, including a double and a triple, to the Boston Red Sox, and to the Chicago White Sox at Chicago, 9 to 5. Steichle is from the University of Illinois.

Pat Moran's Cincinnati Reds, the most disappointing of the early season favorites, treated Christy Mathewson's Braves to another heart-breaking loss on their home lot, winning 4 to 3 through snappy work in the fifth field.

Cold weather or rain caused postponement of other scheduled games.

DEVELOPS STAR PLAYERS

Manager Rickey of St. Louis
Cardinals Seldom Buys a
Player

BY BILLY EVANS
"Get 'em young and train them to be stars."

That is the theory of Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics originated it. Rickey is a firm believer in its efficiency.

The theory followed so religiously by Mack and Rickey is in direct contrast to that of Manager McGraw of the Giants, Miller Huggins of the Yankees and a majority of the major league leaders.

The system of Mack is beginning to bear fruit as far as the Athletics are concerned. Mack is positive that the experimental days are over, that his team has arrived. Mack has a high ball club. If his high hopes are justified, his club will be in the running for a number of years to come.

Sister Protege of Rickey

Rickey brought George Sister to the team. Sister didn't cost him a cent, coming direct from the University of Michigan. The judgment of Rickey relative to young players is shown by the number of young players on his payroll who were secured without the outlay of a single penny.

Prior to the opening of the season
the Chicago White Sox paid $100,000 for Willie Kamm, while McGraw handed over $75,000 for O'Connell and $65,000 for Bentley, practically a quarter of a million dollars for three players.

Rickey can't see the percentage in such extravagant expenditures. A few of Rickey's young stars with the Cardinals can be catalogued as follows:

Stars Secured Cheap

First Baseman—H. H. Hallomley—Found in the semi-pro fields of Nokomo, Ind. Purchase price nothing.

Outfielder Roy Blades—Graduate of High School Circuit in St. Louis. Found by Rickey, developed in minors. Purchase price nothing.

Outfielder Clarence Mueller—Graduate of Mundelein League in St.
Louis. Found on home lots. Developed in minors. Purchase price nothing.

Catcher Harry McCurdy—Graduate of University of Illinois nine. Purchase price nothing.

Pitcher Elvyn Dyer—Converted into an outfielder. Graduate of Rice Institute at Houston, Tex. First year in professional baseball. Purchase price nothing.

Shortstop Erleau, who has replaced the veteran Johnny Lavan in the Cardinal lineup, is a protege of Rickey's from Ohio Wesleyan University, the former master of the Cardinal manager.
Another young blunder who gives great promise is Holmes from the University of Iowa. Holmes is a shortstop, but is mighty versatile and can play elsewhere.

Rickey insists that Outfielders Blades and Mueller are just as good ball players as Jimmy O'Connell. He also desires to emphasize the fact that neither Blades nor Mueller cost him a cent.

"MAKE IT HIGH BALL," SAID EVANS TO PRES.

By N.E.A. Service
WASHINGTON, May 11.—When President Evans officially opened the season at Washington by tossing the first ball to Umpire Billy Evans, it was noted that the president, after the manner of major league pitchers, conferred with his battery partner.

As the president stood up in his box to simulate Walter Johnson's pitching style, and Billy Evans took up his position near the home plate, the cameras clicked and the radio operators used up many feet of film.

"What would you prefer, Mr. Evans, a high ball or a low one?" asked the president.

"Make it a high ball, I haven't seen one for a long time," replied Evans.

Whereupon the president grinned, wrote up in the most approved fashion, and then delivered the high ball, that forced Evans to extend the high ball to the limit for a one-handed catch.

"The president sure had a flick in that high ball," observed Billy, as he surveyed the bare hand much reddened as a result of the speed with which the ball was delivered.

is again entered in the Indianapolis
Memorial Day 500-mile dash.

Ten years ago Goux came over for the first time and took highest honors.

GAMES POSTPONED

CLEVELAND, May 11.—(American New York-Cleveland game postponed rain.)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Perhaps in preparation for a strenuous time through the 12 months preceding the next democratic national convention, Senator Oscar Hammerstein of Birmingham, Ala., is putting in the laziest vacation of anyone mentioned as a 1924 presidential possibility.

Oscar and Mrs. Hammerstein are enjoying "complete rest" at Puschal, Madam, some 400 miles off the west coast of Morocco. No political no questions about the League of Nations, not even the news about the G. O. P. remain over the world court, penetrates the all-pervading peace of his retreat.

THE OVERSEAS GRAVES ENDOWMENT FUND

In a communication sent to Capt. Hugh Molloy of the school department by James T. Duane, chairman of the overseas graves endowment fund committee of the American Legion, the public school children of Lowell are requested to make small donations in order to swell the fund. The elementary school children are asked to contribute one cent each and those of the high school, five cents. All moneys collected are to be turned over to the superintendent of schools, who in turn will send a check to the committee. The collections will be taken up next week, for the amount must be turned in not later than a week from tomorrow.

The letter sent by Mr. Duane is as follows:

Dear Sir: Each year since the close of the World war, the national body of the American Legion has been raising funds annually for the care of the graves of our deceased comrades who died in service and were buried overseas. This movement has met with success on every occasion but realizing that as time goes on this task may become more difficult, the national organization of the American Legion has created a plan for a permanent endowment for the decoration of overseas graves of World war heroes. The department of Massachusetts has been allotted a quota of $10,000 as a minimum. We feel that no activity which the American Legion has participated in since its institution contains so much sentiment as this overseas graves endowment fund, for it assures not only the comrades but the relatives of the men who are buried in Europe that for all time their graves will be well cared for and receive the attention of anyone mentioned as a 1924 presidential possibility.

FIREMEN ON GUARD

AT AUDITORIUM

Elaborate precautions have been taken by the trustees of the Memorial Auditorium and the fire department against the possibility of fire during the present exposition. A considerable number of firemen were stationed at strategic points in the Auditorium last evening and will be there also tonight, ready to meet emergencies if anything in the nature of a fire should occur. It should be mentioned also that all the doors open outward. Even if a door is locked, it can be opened from the inside by pressing on the brass railing on the right side of the door. This is a precaution against the necessity of sudden clearance of the building that has not heretofore been brought to the attention of the public. Let it be remembered then that all doors of the Auditorium, whether locked or not, open readily to pressure from the inside. The right side of each door has a brass railing and if it is pressed downward it unlocks the door and leaves both sides open.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 11.—Further irregularity took place at the opening of today's stock market, but the general changes were mostly higher. Some of the western rails moved upward in a belated response to the unusually favorable March earnings and there was a good demand for a number of the oil and sugar stocks. Woolworth added 4½ points to its 16 point gain of yesterday, touching 223½, a new high record. California Petroleum, Houston Oil and Stewart-Warner Speedometer each advanced a point. Steels continued heavy.

California Petroleum extended its gain to nearly three points before profit-taking caused it to ease again.

Houston and Baldwin were pushed up nearly two points. Gahns of one two points also were recorded by Pere Marquette, American Car, Hayes Wheel, Consolidated Gas, May Department Stores, Continental Can, and American Ice, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, which has developed marked strength on buying attributed to soft coal mining interests, yielded 1½ on profit-taking. International Harvester broke 2½ points and American Agricultural Chemical dropped 1. Foreign exchange opened easier, demand strong, was quoted around $4.604, and French francs again dropped below 65 cents. German marks sold at 6.025 cents, or 40,000 to the American dollar.

Buying of low-priced shares was the outstanding feature of the morning trading. High grade railroad shares also made gains, with the 100 record being recorded for the first time. St. Paul preferred, St. Louis Southwestern common and preferred, "Katy" common and preferred, Canadian Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic & Great Western, Oliver, and a number of speculative interest in the railroad group, caused a halt in the upward movement of industrials and when liquidation dropped out in various speculative bear traders resumed their attacks, the losses ranging from 1 to 10 points. Steel duals, which had dropped from 15½ to 13½, closed 1½ points below their previous high and Du Pont 1½. New low prices for the year were recorded by American Cotton Oil common and preferred, International Harvester, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and American Arsenite, Canadian common and preferred, the losses ranging from 1 to 10 points. NICK CAPTURED

The Toy Maker shipped two brand-new airplanes to Bing-Bang Land by express.

The Tinker Man opened them and put the parts all together like the smart tinker man he was.

Then he called Nick. "Which one do you wish to fly in?" he asked. "The one belonging to the wooden soldiers or the one belonging to the tin soldiers? Which side are you on?"

"I'd better stick to the wooden soldiers," answered Nick. "I cannot be a traitor, sir."

"Good!" cried the Tinker Man. "But you are too big to run this toy airplane the way you are."

"That is easily fixed," said Nick. "Don't forget that Nancy and I have Magic Shoes."

So he proceeded to wish himself quite small and soon he was in the airplane learning all there was to know.

Bye and bye he flew away over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang

GERALDINE FARRAR LEASES N. H. FARM

NORTH HAMPTON, N. H., May 11.—Geraldine Farrar, prima donna, has leased a secluded farm near this town for a period of two years and will come here for rest and quiet as soon as the place can be made ready for occupation, it became known yesterday.

The farm has an old colonial house and is situated near the ocean, but far back from highways and other residences. It is not far from the Little Bear's Head summer colony and is owned by A. W. Strong, a half-brother of Harry H. Thaw.

Miss Farrar was quoted as having declared that in the secluded estate she had found the ideal place to recover from the strain of the court proceedings incidental to her suit for divorce from Lou Tellegen in New York.

A HOMELY HOUSE MIGHT BE
A HOME BEAUTIFUL.

It depends not on the house alone, but first, on the location, second, on the grounds about the house, third, on the house, and last but most important of all would be the people who live in it; for no HOME is a HOME BEAUTIFUL unless there is pleasure and happiness within.

A BEAUTIFUL HOME—With all the worry and trouble to keep up payments and interest, taxes, etc., has been many a curse to the HOME BEAUTIFUL.

Build Your Own Home But Build Within Your Means

Do a little work yourself, it will do you good; don't spend all your time and money on gasoline. Take a little pleasure in life by getting more things out of life.

The first step in HOME BEAUTIFUL is the step you take and the more steps you take the more BEAUTIFUL your home becomes.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 19

Of course Flip could run very fast, and he was gaining rapidly on shiny old Spook. Jack kept calling to his dog but it did no good. Then, just ahead, Jack saw Spook dash up a tall, slender tree. As the cat reached the top, the tree dropped down and landed Spook safely over a stream.

"Well," shouted Jack, as he caught up with his dog, "I'm glad that cat got away." Then he asked Eeny Meeny what was on the other side of the stream. "We'll go right over and see," said the old man. "Just follow me." And Eeny Meeny led the way over a bridge of logs as Flip swam alongside.

Jack was not so sure of his footing and he had only reached the middle of the log crossing when Eeny Meeny stepped on the other shore. Just then the logs started to move and, quick as a flash, Eeny Meeny bent another tall tree down and told Jack to grab hold. Jack did, and was swung to safety. (Continued.)
